Guild Strikes In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Members of the American Newspaper Guild (ANG) went on strike early today at the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner when last-ditch negotiations failed.

However, negotiators for the union and management continued to talk even after pickets ringed the building during a heavy rainstorm.

There was no immediate indication whether executives for the afternoon newspaper, part of the Hearst group, planned to try to publish as usual today without the Guildsmen.

Some 1,000 ANG members at the newspaper were affected by the strike, which began at 12:01 a.m. PST (3:01 a.m. EST). A union spokesman said the Guild had assurances from various craft unions that their members would honor the Guild picket line.

Guildsmen had voted six to one last Oct. 25 to strike anytime after midnight when their contract expired.

A union spokesman indicated the major issues upon which negotiations failed were modifications to strengthen a full Guild shop, job security, and changes in pension and welfare provisions.

Swan Cuts Off Leelanau Power For 2½ Hours

LAKE LEEANAU (UPI) — About 2,000 residents of Leelanau County were without electrical power for about 2½ hours Wednesday night because of a swan.

Consumers Power officials said the power went off about 5 p.m. when a mute swan became tangled in some high voltage wires at their station here. The power also was off until 7:30 p.m. in the villages of Leelanau and Good Harbor.

Formal Peace Deal Doubtful For Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States is understood to have promised the Saigon government it will never agree to a final Viet Nam settlement which would leave the Communists any political toehold in the South.

This has raised the question of whether there ever will be a formal peace settlement in Viet Nam. Many authorities believe it more probable that the Communists—if and when the tide turns decisively against them—would prefer simply to "fade away" in the hope of returning some day to fight under more favorable circumstances.

This would be less humiliating to North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh and the Viet Cong rebels than having to sign a formal pledge to get out of the South and stay out.

The result would be to leave Viet Nam with a Korea-type settlement, with the possibility that a considerable number of U.S. troops would have to remain there for some time unless South Viet Nam felt itself competent to rebuff any renewed aggression by itself.

The U.S. attitude toward Vietnamese negotiations has grown noticeably tougher as the news from the battlefield has indicated an improvement in the position of the anti-Communist forces.

The Johnson administration remains committed to the April 7 offer of the President for "unconditional discussions." This means simply that neither side will demand any concessions as the price for meeting and talking with the other.

But the conditions upon which the United States would sign any final settlement appear to be taking a more specific and tougher form.

He said, "One reason why we have been holding back any public releases is the fact that we cannot take definite steps until we know just where we are going; and if the accusations that are being made are not true, we will be embarrassing a number of innocent people."

Regardless of how one makes an estimate there can be no doubt that organized crime relieves the American public of sums running into billions each year. Besides the deprivation of individual citizens, there are extensive losses to various levels of government in unpaid taxes," the two men said.

Galvin and Ashby said organized crime has gradually shifted from outright thievery and force to prostitution, narcotics and gambling. They said it has also infiltrated some labor unions and businesses for illegal purposes.

Road Contract Inquiry Still Lacking Facts

LANSING (UPI) — State Sen. Charles N. Youngblood, D-Detroit, has cautioned against any premature conclusions being drawn from recent newspaper stories on an investigation into highway contract bidding.

In a news release distributed here Wednesday, Youngblood, who has been in New York this week, said:

Enlistments Cut Down Draft Calls

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey predicts a drop in draft calls by January because of a heavy increase in voluntary enlistments for the armed services.

But he doubts that the upturn in the draft picture will bring any change in present plans to begin drafting married men without children.

He also adds that "all bets are off if there's any major escalation" in the war in Viet Nam.

Hershey said Wednesday in an interview that the services have had an overall increase of 60 per cent in voluntary enlistments since the last summer's stepup in the war effort.

Detroit Cited For Saving Pilot In Burning Plane

DETROIT (UPI)—The parents of a Marine Corporal serving in Viet Nam were notified Wednesday their son was awarded the Navy Commendation Medal for "prompt and courageous action" in rescuing a bomber pilot from a downed plane.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stanley, of suburban East Detroit, received a copy of the commendation given to their son, Cpl. Richard L. Stanley, 22.

Stanley, who enlisted in the Marines shortly after he graduated from high school in 1963, braved flames in the burning aircraft to rescue the bomber pilot. The plane had crashed shortly after takeoff June 30 from the Da Nang airbase and exploded.

Stanley is assigned to the 1st Battalion, 9th Marines in Viet Nam.

This, he said, should result in a reduction of the number of men that will be needed for the draft in January.

January's draft quota is expected to be announced soon by the Pentagon. The draft call for December now stands at 40,000 men, the highest since the Korean war.

Hershey said that the expected decrease in the draft probably would not affect plans to call men married before last Aug. 26 because many local

Police Needed In Crime Wave

DETROIT (UPI) — Police assigned more squad cars to a troubled area Wednesday to counter complaints of mounting crime and violence. The police commissioner called for more facilities to handle juvenile offenders.

Commissioner Ray Girardin said many youths know police have insufficient facilities to hold "more than a handful of them" and openly boast that they will be released after a warning.

Officers arrested two youths Wednesday and charged them with terrorizing an elderly woman in her home early Tuesday.

The new squad car patrols followed a protest to city council by about 60 housewives who said they were afraid to walk the streets of their East Side neighborhood because of mounting violence by teen-agers.

Police continued to search Wednesday for a man who seized a 17-year-old girl on a West Side street and raped her Tuesday night. Two thugs who took a frightened mother on a 90-minute ride after breaking into her home early Tuesday also were sought.

Bright Flashes Light Up Sky

SOUTH HAVEN (UPI) — Two flashes, one a bright explosion which lit the sky "like daylight," were seen in southwestern Michigan early today.

The United States Weather Bureau said the flashes probably were meteors burning themselves out as they hit the earth's atmosphere.

State trooper Neil Dailey said the second flash, about 4 a.m., "looked like an explosion."

"There was a lot of moon up last night but still it lit it up like daylight," Dailey said.

Dailey said he and Trooper Jerry Clark saw both flashes. He said the first one streaked through the sky for about four seconds before disappearing.

A ham radio operator in Eaton County saw one of the flashes and told police he thought an airplane exploded. Battle Creek policemen also reported seeing the bright flash.

Police said there were no reports of anything falling to the ground.

Youth Subdued, Firing Wildly With 2 Pistols

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — A teen-aged honor student, lecturing about Castro and firing wildly from two pistols, terrorized 91 passengers on a jetliner Wednesday night over the Gulf coast. He pulled the trigger of one gun in the face of space agency mission director Christopher Kraft but the weapon misfired.

Thirteen key officials of the Gemini space program were aboard the National Airlines DC8 during the youth's 20-minute outburst of pistol shots and a diatribe about the dangers of Castroism. The plane landed safely after the gun-wielding 16-year-old was subdued by a Houston businessman.

Thomas Robinson of Brownsville, Tex., a frail-looking 16-year old, was arrested on a federal charge of crime aboard an aircraft. He later said he did not intend to hijack the plane, "I was hoping at least, maybe somebody would wake up."

Robinson was overpowered and disarmed of his 22-caliber and 32-caliber pistols by Edward T. Haake, 45, a Houston businessman. He shrugged off references to his heroism, saying anyone would have done it.

"It's not like I'm brave. I don't even like to fly," Haake said.

After the scuffle, Haake said, he handed the youth a drink—bourbon and water—"to calm him down... he guzzled it right down."

The plane, which had been flying at an altitude of 20,000 feet, returned safely to New Orleans. The youth was arrested by the FBI and held under $50,000 bond for a hearing Friday.

Robinson left the tourist cabin of the plane about 20 minutes after takeoff from New Orleans, entered the first class compartment and sat across the aisle from Kraft.

"What have you got under the newspaper," Kraft recalled asking the boy.

Robinson then pulled a 22-caliber target pistol and shoved it in front of Kraft's face. He pulled back the hammer. It clicked but did not discharge, Kraft said, because it was not properly cocked.

"I was scared," Kraft said later. "Too scared to do anything."

Other passengers said Kraft turned pale.

When the gun failed to go off, Robinson walked up to the lounge between the first class cabin and the cockpit and tried to open the door.

Stewardess Nancy Taylor told him he could not go in, that the cockpit was "off limits." Over an intercom, she notified the pilot, Capt. Dean Cooper, who radioed New Orleans Airport he was returning because "there is a boy aboard who is waving guns."

At that point, the youth faced the passengers and told them it was time somebody went to the aid of people who want to get out of Cuba. He said he hoped "somebody would wake up."

"He sort of made a speech," Haake said. "He said the government was not militant enough about Castroism."

Among the space agency officials with Kraft were Paul Haney, NASA publicity director, and Charles Mathews, Gemini program manager. The flight, which originated in Los Angeles, was en route to Melbourne, Fla. The space agency men planned to go from there to Cape Kennedy.

Haney said later in a Columbia Broadcasting System interview that the shots the boy fired were not all at once—but sporadic.

"When the young man finally lowered his gun to reload, Tom (Haake)—with a lot of courage—sprang at him and succeeded in grabbing his pistols."

"We both ran forward and threw him into a chair and searched him to make sure he had nothing else on him. By then we were right over New Orleans."

Haney said he was told later that the pilot had a gun pointed at the door through which the youth intended to come.

FEEDING THEIR YOUNG

Birds feed their young in different ways. Some carry insects or fruits in their bills and drop the food into outstretched mouths; some swallow the food and later cough it up; hummingbirds inject their youngsters with nectar by using their tubular tongues; cormorants and pelicans open their mouths and let their young feed themselves.

UPCAP Debates U.S. Cash And Survival Nov. 22

Reorganization of UPCAP will be considered at a meeting of its delegate body at 10 a. m. Monday, Nov. 22 at the State Office Building which may determine the fate and even survival of UPCAP.

The Upper Peninsula Committee on Area Progress was organized four years ago by 14 U. P. counties with the help of Michigan State University as an area economic development agency.

It has become identified with federal government programs for economic development and more recently with the federal War on Poverty under the Economic Development Act and most of its income is now from the federal government for giving technical assistance to aid programs in the U. P. UPCAP has its headquarters in Escanaba and has a staff of 17 persons employed here.

UPCAP's Origins

The U. S. Office of Economic Development in Washington delayed a grant of $103,000 to UPCAP for technical assistance to the 6 Community Action Agencies in the Upper Peninsula, and then granted two months of aid with the proviso that UPCAP restructure itself. The rest of the grant would be provisional upon this restructuring.

UPCAP had been wrestling with itself and with other agencies concerned with U. P. economic development and economic opportunity over this issue of restructuring itself to include as voting members representatives of more of the agencies it is dealing with.

As originally and presently structured, UPCAP is composed of representatives of the 14 county boards of supervisors which created the organization. They form the delegate body of 14 members.

Proposed Enlargement
UPCAP has an advisory committee which proposed to it earlier this year a plan which would open the delegate body to include:

Three delegates from each of the 6 Community Action Agencies in the U. P. formed to administer the War on Poverty in multi-county districts. One of these delegates will be from the Community Action Agency, one from an Economic Development Committee to be formed in the Agency area and one from a physical planning committee to be formed in the Agency area.

These 18 delegates would join the 14 county delegates (hopefully 15 with the addition of Marquette County), and there would also be added one delegate to represent each university and college serving the U. P. (7), one for federal legislators, one for state legislators, one for federal agencies and one for the Michigan Department of Economic Expansion.

This would be a delegate body of 45 members and when it was suggested at one UPCAP meeting which considered the plan that it would be unwieldy a delegate said: "No, they won't bother to come."

Modified Plan

The modified plan for restructuring which the Economic Opportunity Office would find acceptable as the price for further financial support of UPCAP would provide only two delegates from each of the 6 Community Action Agencies, instead of 3 and would eliminate representatives of the state and federal governments and have one delegate for each of the major universities, (the University of Michigan, Michigan State University, Michigan Tech and Northern Michigan University) dropping, Northland and Bay de Noc Community Colleges, Suomi and Sault Tech.

The two month extension will finance UPCAP into December but not through it. Then the delegates will face a problem of financing the agency, although it has received a grant of $93,000 to provide technical assistance to Small Business Development Centers in the Upper Peninsula. This grant has a provision asking UPCAP to strengthen its Economic Opportunity Committee of 40 members which is headed by Atty. Andrew Wisti of Hancock and Mrs. Michael DeFanti of Marquette.

Congressman Coming
Also attending the crucial meeting of UPCAP in Escanaba Nov. 22 will be the 11 member executive committee of the UPCAP Economic Opportunity Committee, representatives of the Economic Development Administration, of the U. S. Office of Economic Opportunity, the Michigan Department of Economic Expansion and Michigan Economic Opportunity Office.

Senator Philip A. Hart's administrative assistant, William Welsh, and Congressman Raymond Clevenger (D-Sault Ste. Marie) will also attend.

Delegates from the county boards of supervisors will be deciding how much they'll have to let Washington run their own show in order to get the federal money that keeps UPCAP alive, and whether it is congressional interest or agency interest demanding a new crop of grass roots.

James T. Wren

Lt. Col. Wren Joins College Administration

Bay de Noc Community College will shortly be joined by James T. Wren, the most recent addition to the faculty. He will come to Escanaba from San Francisco after retirement from the Army on Nov. 30 as a lieutenant colonel, to accept the appointment as administrative assistant at the college.

As such he will be responsible for teaching half time in the industrial - technical courses and for a variety of special assignments, said President Richard Rinehart. This will include surveys and studies required by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and for all community services.

These include credit and non-credit work for local business and industry, short courses, sponsorship of community activities, evening classes and co-operation on cultural support to the community in general.

"Since several of these activities take place each evening at the college and because the community college role calls for such active participation, the coordination and initiative necessary will occupy approximately one quarter of his time," said Rinehart.

Technical Work

Wren began his military career in 1942 as a naval cadet. He saw aircraft carrier duty during World War II and participated in the Iwo Jima and Okinawa campaigns as a Navy

Air Operations officer. In 1950 Major Wren volunteered for training and duty as a frogman and participated in amphibious reconnaissance operations in the Caribbean and South America.

In 1953 he was named chief of replacement training for Underwater Demolition Teams for the U. S. Navy Atlantic Fleet; and in 1954 he was employed as a technical assistant to the Committee on Undersea Warfare of the National Academy of Science, and co-authored a book on the Science of Skin and Scuba Diving. He also authored the technical training program of the U. S. Navy School for Underwater Swimmers at Key West, Fla.

Wren transferred to the U. S. Army in 1955 as chief of plans and operations of the Ordnance Explosive Disposal Office. In 1957 he began a career in special weapons at Sandia Base, Albuquerque, N.M., where he was designated as nuclear weapons officer and assigned as commanding officer of the 9th Ordnance Detachment Special Weapons.

Four Children

It was with this detachment that he was assigned in 1958 to Thule, Greenland, which is some 1,200 miles north of the Arctic circle. Upon returning to the United States in 1959 he was assigned to the Ordnance Ammunition Command as acting chief of National Maintenance Branch for Special Weapons. For 14 months he was chief of the computations office, Electronic Data Processing Division at the Ordnance Ammunition Command.

He is a 1957 graduate of Michigan State University where he majored in physical science and industrial education. Lt. Col. Wren assumed the command of Milan Arsenal,

Indiana Men Are Fined On Sealing Charges In Delta

Three Indiana men were fined $50 and court costs of $7.50 each by Justice A. J. Mortier is Gladstone Wednesday night for failure to attach and lock seals on deer killed on the Stonington Peninsula. They were arrested by Conservation Officer James Walker Wednesday night.

The men are Don W. Garrison and Richard W. Muller of Gas City, Ind., and Robert D. Johnson of Upland, Ind. They had a buck and large doe properly sealed, but two small deer did not have seals on it.

Milan, Tenn., on Nov. 10, 1961, and in August, 1963 he reported to Presidio of San Francisco and assumed command of 6th Army Explosive Ordnance Disposal Units and Activities.

Mr. and Mrs. Wren, the former Alice Heinowski of Lansing, have four children, Mary, 18, Christian, 17, Timothy, 11, and Michael, 10. They now reside at Fort Scott, Presidio of San Francisco.

Kelley Circulates

Frank J. Kelley, Michigan's matinee idol-handsome attorney general, who will be running for re-election next November, trained across the Upper Peninsula recently giving speeches.

He didn't mention his candidacy next year in his speeches, of course, but he had it in mind. If he gets re-elected he will have been set up for the longest tenure of any attorney general in the history of Michigan—eight years.

At the present time he seems to regard next year's election without great enthusiasm, but without dismay. It has been suggested, of course, by many persons on many occasions that Kelley become a Democratic candidate for governor. He has considered it and put it aside up to now. He likes being attorney general. "It's interesting, but I wouldn't want to do it at 60"—but he's also a money player, he doesn't just politick for exercise or experience, and he told one of his Democratic admirers in the U.P., "That Jerry Cavanagh and I together couldn't beat Romney."

His reference was to the mayor of Detroit, who just won another term in a very big way and who has just been suggested as a Democratic hope for governor. As for former Gov. G. Mennen Williams, Kelley doesn't think it would be a horse race. Romney would point to Soany and say "There's the man who bankrupted Michigan" and "I'm the man who saved it" and the campaign would be over.

The blackening that Soany got in national image as governor was unreal, untrue, unfair, but deadly, said Kelley. "I don't think that Romney is going to have any trouble if he wants to get elected governor in 1966," said Kelley.

"That cleft chin looks good on television and that evangelistic spiel sounds good for five minutes, even if it says nothing."

Kelley is trying to interest former State Highway Commissioner John C. Meekie in returning to Michigan to be the Democrats' bid against Romney in '66. Now a congressman, Meekie is reported by Kelley to like raising horses on his Virginia estate, but "not being a freshman congressman on the Agricultural Committee."

Former Michigan Auditor General Billie Farnum, who is also a congressman, is available, but the Democratic leaders in the state seem less than avid for him to come home and challenge George Romney. Sanford Brown, the Democratic state treasurer whose job expired in the new state constitution, seems headed for a state labor office.

Mayor Cavanagh is the strongest challenger for Romney showing in the Democratic deck at this time, but it seems likely that he would prefer, like Soany Williams, to inherit the office of U.S. Senator Pat McNamara rather than do battle with Romney for the governorship.

The Democrats of Michigan face the dilemma of the Republicans of the 11th Congressional District: who are beating the bushes for a candidate to unseat Congressman Ray Cleveland. State Democratic Chairman Zolton Ferency says the Democrats will pick their man after Romney announces his intentions. Ferency himself is available, but the Democratic hierarchy seems to regard him as somewhat controversial, more of a hatchman on the Republicans than a peacemaker among the Democrats.

Repair Frauds Nipped

The Michigan Legislature this year put a spike in home repair frauds that have bilked Michigan home owners out of a lot of money over many years.

The Legislature seems a little tardy in getting around to lawmaking to end the home repair racket, but now that it has done it, it has given Michigan a law with more teeth in it than a Boston bulldog, says Attorney General Frank J. Kelley.

Why home owners should be specially subject to dishonest racketeers who sell furnace repairs, roofing or siding isn't clear. These people get such ethical treatment when they visit their local stores and service offices that they seem to acquire a great faith in human nature, so that when a fast buck, fly-by-night salesman comes knocking on their home door with the offer of a big fat bonus in home repairs they're hooked.

On at least some of them, Every Chamber of Commerce in the Upper Peninsula knows how many are hooked because they get the Better Business Bureau calls complaining that they really didn't want to sign that repair contract, but "they just had to" to get rid of the high pressure sales crew.

Under the old law, once the homeowner had signed he was fearful that he couldn't get out of the contract. He need have no such fears now under Michigan's new home improvement contract law. He has until 5 p.m. of the day after signing to cancel the contract. And if the salesman has been cute and doesn't tell the homeowner where he can call to cancel, it isn't a contract at all and needn't be honored.

Pennsylvania has such a law for several years and the home repair racket there has been virtually eliminated.

Kelley said that areas like the Upper Peninsula have more of this sort of gyp business than Michigan's big city areas because they require the licensing of repair contractors and most outstate areas don't.

Rebel Goal Unreal

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Because it is misleading as to the real origins of America's "campus revolt" against U.S. policy, it is unfortunate that some organized Communist elements are evidently active in the rebels' ranks.

Without minimizing the danger from such elements, many judicious observers of the campus scene argue that the Red threat, in the normally understood sense, is considerably less than the main point.

The rebelling students, not to mention a fair number of academicians who seem to share their ardor, appear for the most part to be against all well-embedded establishments, including the entrenched Red authority in the Kremlin.

To the campus insurgents, there is a comic opera flavor to Moscow's leaders, as they stand stiffly along the parapets in Red Square in their overcoats and baggy pants.

What is now called the New Left feels little in common with the Old Left. The New Left's bond really is with other rebels who take no label easily.

They are rejectionists. Neither U.S. political party satisfies them in any degree. Many are even totally opposed to the whole American democratic process as they understand it.

Under President Johnson's prod, Congress in 1965 has just taken gigantic leaps toward new and wider government programs. Many Republicans brand the effort as a colossal stride toward socialism. But the campus rebels neither hail it nor attack it as such.

Irving Kristol, writing of the rebellion in the Atlantic, says, "It's as if nothing had happened—or, to put it more precisely, as if whatever happened in Washington has nothing to do with the world the students live and act in."

Indeed, the insurgents seem bent on making a nearly total separation from the country's organized life. They seek a special world of their own, where peace and good will prevail and war, evil and hatred are rooted. The goal is perfection today.

Leaders in organized society waste breath when they tell these young Americans the real world cannot meet their lightning-speed timetable. They glory in their unreality. To seek the impossible sets them apart, which is where they want to be.

Contributions are welcome. They cannot be over 100 words and must be signed with name, address and phone number. No writer and names will be used. The right to condense letters is reserved.

Organized America after all is here to stay. The only significant activity is the kind of address that will change the shape and content of the society it is in. In spite of the fact that it is in a spiritual, intellectual, and moral crisis.

People, Events Of Yesteryears

From the files of the Escanaba Daily Press

25 YEARS AGO

Not since World War days have so many men been employed at the Escanaba ore docks as in the last few days, with one frozen in cars and even rockets and with an extra many stop somewhere to get a drink to beat the lakes freeze-up.

The city put out a "help wanted" plea as it announced that very few are interested in working as city police patrolman or border fireman.

The police patrol job pays $100 a month to start and the fireman job is a city utility plant, $80.

30 YEARS AGO

The biggest mouse killed by C. W. Kelley with a party of Escanaba hunters in Canada was a mouse named "The Mouse" who was killed on the shore of the Lake Superior. The mouse was a very large mouse and was a very old mouse. It was a very old mouse and was a very large mouse.

A modern X-ray and electrical treatment machine was installed at the offices of Dr. W. A. LeMay. The machine is one of the latest of its kind and is a very good machine. It is a very good machine and is a very modern machine.

The Doctor Ann Landers

Says: Place 3 Names On Headstone

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt

Q—What causes osteoarthritis? Is there a cure for it?

A—Osteoarthritis is less severe than rheumatoid arthritis.

Hereditary and the aging process play a part in its cause. In women it is often associated with knobby swelling in the joints of the fingers. Although there is no medicine or any other form of treatment that will restore the affected joints to normal, aspirin and phenylbutazone will relieve the pain.

If you are overweight, you are putting an unnecessary burden on your joints and reducing will improve your condition. Good posture is also important.

Avoid bumping or knocking your joints as you grow older.

A great deal of relief can be obtained by applying heat in some form to the affected joints for 15 to 20 minutes once or twice daily. Moderate exercise will go far toward preventing stiffness.

Q—I have had rheumatoid arthritis for three years. My doctor recommends injections to induce fever. Would they be helpful?

A—Although artificial fever has been used in the past in the treatment of various forms of arthritis with some success, it has largely been abandoned in favor of such drugs as aspirin, phenylbutazone and a new drug—indomethacin. External heat is also helpful.

Q—What is pruritus? What causes it? Is there any cure?

A—Pruritus means itching without any visible skin lesions such as hives or mosquito bites. It may be caused by diabetes, jaundice, anemia, excessively dry skin, dandruff or even thinking about itching.

Before starting any treatment, a doctor should determine the cause of your itching. There are many preparations that will give you temporary relief but removing the cause is the only way to effect a cure.

Q—My husband has ulcers of the colon. He passes a lot of bloody mucus. The doctor says he will have it the rest of his life. Is there no remedy for this? Is there any danger of cancer?

A—The cortisone group of drugs are helpful. Recent studies indicate that sulfasalazine is also helpful. Prolonged rest and psychotherapy have improved some victims, but, in the long run, the best results are achieved by removing the colon. Cancer of the colon occurs much more often in persons with ulcerative colitis than in the general population.

Mack Objects To Doe Killing

LANSING (UPI) — State Sen. Joseph S. Mack, D-Ironwood, has accused the Conservation Department of trying to cover up the real reasons for a decline in the Upper Peninsula deer population.

Mack, chairman of the Senate Conservation Appropriations Committee, called estimates that 30,000 deer died last winter in the northern half of the Upper Peninsula "preposterous and without foundation."

"In my judgment, the statement of 30,000 deer wiped out in only a portion of the U.P. by winter kill is only a weak cover to hide the real killer 'the doe license sales,'" Mack charged.

Figures Challenged
Mack said his committee would begin an immediate investigation into both the impact of permitting hunters to take female deer and the accuracy of the estimated winter deer deaths. He demanded the department produce records to support the winter kill figure.

William J. Mullendore, information officer for the Conservation Department, said the 30,000 estimate included deer deaths from all causes, including disease, starvation, the weather, predators and highway accidents.

He said the 1964-65 death estimate was between 10,000 and 15,000 deer higher than the number that die during a normal winter. He blamed an unusual, long winter and heavy snows for at least part of the increase.

Mack said his decision for a full-scale investigation was made after reading of the death estimate and reports that "only 1,364 deer killed" were taken back across the Mackinac Bridge in the first three days of the season that began Saturday.

"No Emergency"
Mullendore discounted the possibility of "an emergency situation" affecting the Upper Peninsula deer herd. He added, all indications now are there "will be a normal deer season" in the Northern U.P.

Mack, an opponent of the doe license sales, said, "the time has come for us to find out once and for all whether the Conservation Department uses fact or fiction or 'guesstimates' as the basis for its operations."

Mullendore admitted the department had not made an exhaustive survey into the causes of last winter's deer fatalities because "we didn't consider that an emergency situation existed up there."

"The peace treaty with Japan was signed in San Francisco, Calif., on Sept. 8, 1951."

Employees Get Melon At GM

DETROIT (UPI) — Approximately 350,000 General Motors hourly employees represented by the United Auto Workers union will share a special fund totaling $14,000,000 next month, it was announced today.

Louis G. Seaton, vice president in charge of personnel staff said the payments, totaling approximately $40 per eligible employee, will come from a special account GM set up last year under a provision of the labor agreement between the company and the UAW.

The special account is financed by the payments GM normally contributes to a Supplemental Unemployment Benefit fund. When that fund reaches "maximum funding", the five-cent an hour per employee is given to the employees if the

Faculty Member Of MSU Killed In Auto Crash

PORTLAND (UPI)—John McNicholas, 39, a faculty member at Michigan State University, was killed Wednesday in a traffic accident which police blamed on high winds.

McNicholas, East Lansing, was a professor of higher education and administration and director of the bureau of field service in the college of education.

He was fatally injured when his car swerved onto a shoulder of the I 96 expressway two miles west of here, rolled over several times and threw him out.

State Police said McNicholas apparently lost control of the car when it was struck by 40 mile per hour winds as he emerged from behind a hill which protected cars from the winds.

McNicholas was enroute home from a meeting with teachers at Grand Rapids.

Two Popes Up For Sainthood

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI, in an unprecedented move, today took the first important steps toward having two of his predecessors declared saints. They are Pope John XXIII and Pope Pius XII.

In a speech at a public session of the Ecumenical Council, the pontiff said he has started proceedings to have the two late Popes beatified.

His action, which breaks centuries of tradition, eliminates what could have been years of preliminary investigation.

However, the rest of the process of beatification, which in the cases of John XXIII and Pius XII almost certainly will lead to eventual sainthood, is expected to follow the normal channels through the Vatican's sacred Congregation of Rites.

There has been tremendous public pressure for the beatification of both Popes, and particularly John XXIII who died on June 3, 1963, following four days of agony.

Pope Paul told Council fathers to recall the words and examples of John and Pius so they will be strengthened in their "spiritual renovation."

"And we are arranging that to this end there be canonically begun the process of beatification of those holy and supreme pontiffs who are so dear to us," Pope Paul said.

"This will be an answer to the desire that has been expressed by innumerable voices in favor of each of these popes. In this way, history will be assured the patrimony of their spiritual legacy."

The Pope added this warning: "The procedure cannot, obviously be rapid. But it will be carried out with constancy and care."

"May God grant that it lead us where even now we hope to arrive."

The Gideons estimate the average life of a hotel Bible at seven years.

Cadillac Needs Big Hall To Get Trailer Rally

CADILLAC (UPI) — The city of Cadillac is looking for a temporary building, or a plan for an easy-to-build temporary structure, to accommodate just one convention.

But it's a big one—the Wally Byam Trailer Gathering—which annually attracts between 10,000 to 12,000 trailer dwellers to their annual meeting.

The Cadillac City Commission Tuesday night rejected a proposal by the City Building Authority to spend $150,000 for a proposed convention hall. Under the rejected proposal the authority also would have raised $150,000 through a revenue bond issue which would be matched by the city. The city would be responsible for other costs and details.

Despite the turn-down by the commission, Richard Paschke, first vice president of the Byam Association, Wednesday told Robert Jones, manager of the Chamber of Commerce that the organization was still interested in coming to Cadillac next summer for the convention, providing some kind of a meeting place could be arranged.

Paschke and Jones discussed the possibility of using an existing building or putting up a temporary structure as a center for the convention.

The Byam Board of Directors will ballot in the final verdict in the near future.

Hastings Plant Strike Settled
HASTINGS (UPI)—Members of a United Auto Workers local ratified a new contract with E. W. Bliss Co. Tuesday, ending a 75-day strike which idled about 700 workers.

Members of Local 414 of the UAW machine shop local voted 494-to-24 in favor of the new pact. A company spokesman said workers would begin returning to their jobs today and the entire work force would be on the job by Thursday.

The strike started Sept. 1. The factory makes heavy duty industrial presses.

Hunting Season Starts 6th Day, Conditions Good

The Upper Peninsula deer season eased into its sixth day today without serious incident.

Three more hunters were reported lost Wednesday, but all walked out of the woods on their own power in good condition.

At least 31 hunters have been lost in Upper Peninsula forests since the 1965 season opened last Saturday. Two persons have been killed by gunfire and seven more hunters have suffered fatal heart attacks. Five hunters have been wounded by gunfire.

A year ago three persons died from bullet wounds, 11 suffered fatal heart attacks and 11 more were wounded during the deer season.

Conditions Good

John Kemppinen, regional dispatcher for the Michigan Department of Conservation at Marquette, reported hunting conditions ranged from good to very good throughout the U. P. today.

Weather in most sections was clearing and turning colder with an average temperature between 20 and 27 degrees. Snow depths ranged from a trace in the Escanaba area to 16 inches in the Silver Lake basin area in Marquette County.

Main roads were reported in good condition, but side roads remained poor.

"The number of hunters in the woods declined further yesterday and they were scattered throughout the deer range instead of being concentrated in certain areas," Kemppinen said.

The deer kill Wednesday was light, he said.

Authorities at the Mackinac Bridge reported almost half of the Lower Michigan hunters who came to the Upper Peninsula for Saturday's opening of the deer season have returned.

Bridge Count Up

At 7 a. m. today, 15,817 cars of 33,658 hunter vehicles which came north have returned home, carrying 3,344 deer and 31 bear. A year ago 3,271 deer and 34 bear were taken over the bridge during a similar period.

The Conservation Department has also issued 125 permits to transport deer through Wisconsin, compared with 118 a year ago.

State Police of the Marquette Post reported that Gary Blake, 26, of Clarkston, Mich., who had been missing since 3:30 p. m. Tuesday in Marquette Township, Gogebic County, was located in good condition at 12:37 p. m., Wednesday.

Peter Rebro, 63, of Flint, who was lost overnight in Nahma Township of Delta County, walked out of the woods about 7 a. m. today, State Police said.

Glynn Franks, 32, of Carleton, Mich., and Donald Miller, 42, of Bellevue, O., who were also reported lost Wednesday were located. It took Franks three and a half hours to walk out of woods in Hiawatha Township, Schoolcraft County, after hearing a penetrator siren from a State Police patrol car.

BUCK TAILS — William Marble, veteran Gladstone hunter and expert on hunt safety, dismayed by the number of lost hunter reports, issued his annual call today for use of the Marble Rescue Plan.

"It's simple," said Marble. "The lost hunter should build three big fires in a triangle and keep busy tending them. He'll surely be rescued before morning and will most likely be back in camp for a midnight snack. If he starts to walk out he may wind up in AuTrain or Raco—or in the marble orchard."

James Hill, Suamico, Wis., had his rifle back today, thanks to Martin Schraeder of Rapid River. Schraeder found the rifle Wednesday on U. S. 2 near the Whitefish hill. Hill had left the rifle on the top of his car and driven away from Rapid River and before he remembered the gun it was gone.

The biggest thrill for most hunters during the afternoon was a B-52 bomber from K. I. Sawyer Air Force base which glided silently over the land at tree-top level. Most hunters we saw agreed that deer would begin to move today after getting used to the new snow.

Briefly Told

Immunization clinic will be held between 2 and 4 p. m. Friday at the Delta County building.

Traffic court summonses have been issued by Escanaba police to Violet M. Kholman, Escanaba Rte. 1, improper backing; and to Tony J. Colombo, 301 S. 12th St., failing to exercise due caution.

LEON JOHNSON, left, of Sparta, Mich., displayed an eight-point buck he bagged opening day at St. Nicholas to companions Frank Blackall and Victor Harrington. They estimated the buck weighed about 180 pounds. Since Saturday, the trio has seen 27 deer, but this one was the only one they were sure had horns. (Daily Press Photo)

Deer Lay Low In Snow:

Bomber Enlivens Hunt

By DAVE ANDREWS

The snow-covered fields and forests of Delta County were beautiful in scattered sunshine Wednesday afternoon.

The side roads were murder. And the deer hunters — objects of our mid-week mission into the countryside — were beginning to fight.

There were a few rifle shots, but by mid-afternoon most of the hunters had yielded to the warmth of their cabins.

Deer, though apparently plentiful in the Rock, Perkins, Cornell and Brampton Township areas, weren't moving.

The biggest thrill for most hunters during the afternoon was a B-52 bomber from K. I. Sawyer Air Force base which glided silently over the land at tree-top level. Most hunters we saw agreed that deer would begin to move today after getting used to the new snow.

Shots Fired

Art DeCamp, 620 Lake Shore Dr., who was hunting in Brampton Township just west of the Escanaba River, said he completed a large circle and hadn't seen a thing.

"I only saw two sets of tracks," he said, "and they were a day old."

No sooner had he spoken, however, when three shots rang out from a nearby woodland field.

"That's my nephew," he said. "I'd better go see."

In red coat and britches he was well defined against the snow. Your reporter and photographer — aware that one hunter had already taken shots at a red convertible during the season — elected not to venture forth in brown jackets.

We wished him luck and spun our wheels in slippery rutts back to Co. Rd. 519.

A lonesome hunter sat along the road, silently watching.

"Any luck?" we asked.

"Not a thing," he said.

We drove on.

Opening Day Buck

Three hunters from Sparta, Mich., were encamped in what appeared to be a converted garage at St. Nicholas. They had a nine-point buck, estimated to weigh about 180 pounds.

The marksman was Leon Johnson, a Consumer's Power Co. employee and a veteran hunter in the Upper Peninsula for the past eight years. He brought the buck down opening day.

All three men had doe per-

Suggest Change In Liquor Laws

MARQUETTE — Michigan's Liquor Control Act was the target of controversial testimony given at a hearing held here Tuesday night by the House Committee on Liquor Control.

Aiming to update the Liquor Control Act, the committee held a three and one-half hour hearing in the Marquette County Courthouse attended by about 50 persons.

Rep. Edward K. Michalski (D-Detroit), heads the committee.

Michigan's present Liquor Control Act, regarded by many as one of the best in the nation, is in need of "clarification and updating to make it easier to operate under," Michalski said.

The act was passed at the end of the prohibition period in 1933 when the Volstead Act was repealed. Many of the control regulations in the 1933 bill were taken from a control act passed in 1914.

Scope Noted

Michalski pointed out the Liquor Control Committee's job is concerned with legislation, and is not to be confused with the scope of the Liquor Control Commission.

Durwood Root, Lansing, representing the Michigan Licensed Beverage Dealers' Association, and speaking for a number of alcoholic beverage dealers and tavern owners in this area, recommended:

More public officials be added to the Liquor Control Commission, particularly county prosecuting attorneys and the state attorney general, bringing law investigation and enforcement agencies closer to the liquor control problem.

Local governments enforce the Liquor Control Law more strictly, as many of them are now "failing to do this."

Local option be used permitting Sunday sales of liquor. A present state-wide ban is in effect.

Class C and Tavern licenses be transferrable on a state-wide basis.

Study present regulation restricting liquor sale within 500-foot radius of a church.

Complete study of the drinking minor problem.

Root also suggested lowering taxes on alcoholic beverages which is as high as 54 per cent in Michigan.

"Tax per barrel of beer in Michigan is $6.61," Root said. "The highest tax in neighboring states is $2.50 per barrel."

Greater Penalties

Root said much greater punitive action is needed to curb the sale of alcoholic beverages to minors.

The Rev. Norbert W. Smith, pastor, First Methodist Church, Marquette, hit the flooding of advertising media with alcoholic beverage advertising.

"On one hand, we try to educate your youth on the effects alcohol and control drinking before the age of 21, and then allow uncontrolled advertising urging just the opposite," he said.

He urged that the Sunday closing law be kept in effect throughout the state. Another recommendation made by the Rev. Mr. Smith was the closing of bars be at midnight Saturday instead of 2 Sunday morning.

He also said that the issuance of tavern and Class C licenses might be on the basis of one per 2,500 population instead of the present one per 1,500.

Michalski said that the state was "over licensed," due to the regulation against transferring Tavern and Class C on a state-wide basis.

Littering Problem

Several witnesses, concerned with the littering, recommended strong action be taken to curb the fast growing problem.

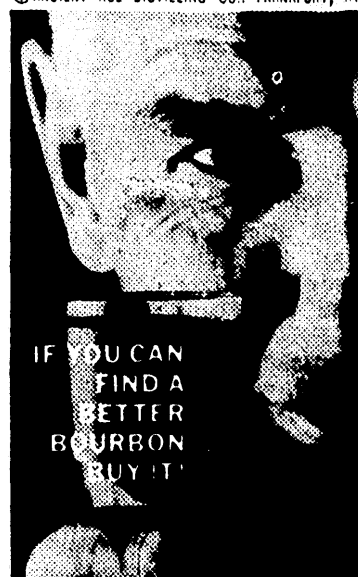

In addition to the strict enforcement of the newly-passed law giving litterers 90 days in jail, $100 fine or both, they urged that "throw-away" bottle labels be printed with the litter-law warning.

Others said throw-aways should not be manufactured, and recommended all bottles be returned for a deposit fee, cutting down on littering.

The Rev. Mr. Smith said a mile of highway cleanup in the Marquette area conducted by a group under his direction, found 90 per cent of the litter bottles were of the throw-away beer container variety.

It was also pointed out minors drinking were a big factor in the litter problem, since they want to get rid of "evidence" as soon as possible.

Patronage Off On C&O Train

DETROIT (UPI)—The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad said today the "crew outnumbers the passengers" on the Grand Rapids-Traverse City run which the Michigan Public Service Commission has ordered continued.

A C&O spokesman said the firm was studying Tuesday's PSC ruling which rejected a C&O request to abandon the run.

"Although the PSC order states that there was a 12 per cent increase in patronage on the Grand Rapids to Traverse City run, and a 40 per cent increase on the reverse trip, this meant that at the most an average of seven passengers per train mile were on the trains," the spokesman said.

"This is considerably less than the capacity of the trains. In fact, on most days the crew outnumbered the passengers."

PSC Chairman Peter B. Spivak ruled that the C&O failed to prove it was losing money on the run and said the firm could afford a small loss if necessary to maintain passenger service.

Wayne Expands Campus Police; Uses Patrol Car

DETROIT (UPI)—Wayne State University Wednesday announced a modernization and expansion of its campus police force.

WSU President William R. Keast made the announcement before a hearing of the House Ways and Means subcommittee on Higher Education called after Abdul C. Accra, a Wayne student, was shot Oct. 24 in his car outside the Jeffries Housing Project. The university leases three of the buildings at the project.

Keast told the subcommittee the university was aware its security force of two investigators and 13 watchmen was inadequate, and the school is trying to hire a qualified police administrator.

"In the meantime, we hired nine part-time private guards Oct. 1 and added a patrol car," he added.

NEST BY THE SIDE of the road—Not why she crossed the road but why she chose the edge of a heavily traveled street at a Ventura, Calif., as a nesting site is the question posed by this black hen. The apparently unflappable mother-to-be deposited her eggs on the dirt shoulder and goes on about the business of hatching them, unfazed by traffic roaring by only a few feet away.

U.S. Troops Set To Blast Reds

Battles between American troops and regulars of the North Vietnamese Army have raised the possibility that the war may be moving into a new phase. The question is examined in this dispatch by Michael T. Malloy, UPI bureau manager in Saigon.

By MICHAEL T. MALLOY
United Press International
SAIGON (UPI)—Communist North Viet Nam is marching its army into an American military meat grinder a regiment at a time.

The U.S. 1st Cavalry Division all but annihilated one complete regiment—the North Vietnamese 66th—in three days of savage fighting at Chu Pong Mountain near the Cambodian border.

The same American troops earlier helped break the back of two more North Vietnamese regiments around the nearby U.S. Special Forces camp at Plei Me.

American officers are certain that still more North Vietnamese regulars are marching down the Ho Chi Minh Trail bound for South Viet Nam and they are delighted at the prospect.

U.S. Ready
U.S. commanders expect to smash these outfits as fast as they cross into South Viet Nam. The roughly 1,500 men of the 66th regiment had been in this country only 15 days when they were wiped out.

It takes two or three months for a North Vietnamese outfit to walk the jungle paths to South Viet Nam. It is assumed that more regiments have left their homeland on the trail of the mauled 66th.

The American meat grinder is waiting in the mountains where the trail empties in South Viet Nam.

Why are the Communist leaders in Hanoi throwing their regulars into suicidal battle with a killing machine as efficient as the U.S. 1st Cavalry Division?

The answer is not yet clear. It may be that the Communists seriously believe their fanatical infantrymen can hold their own against the superiority of American firepower, although the fate of the 66th Regiment proved them wrong.

Or it may be the Communists are willing to sacrifice North Vietnamese cannon fodder to distract the Americans from the longer range battle with the Viet Cong guerrillas.

V.C. Bases
U.S. strategy is to use American troops to root out the secret mountain bases of the Viet Cong's own regular army. With the regular army broken to pieces, it is hoped that Vietnamese government forces can seize and keep control of South Viet Nam's 17,000 villages.

This is currently impossible, because no single village garrison can hold out against a big, regular outfit.

As long as the Viet Cong battalions can raid the lightly-held villages at will, the villages must continue to supply the food, the money and the recruits which support the Communist war effort.

American victories over North Vietnamese regulars contribute little toward smashing the Viet Cong army.

While the 1st Cavalry Division has smashed battalions after battalion of North Vietnamese, it has had little time to spare for the original strategy of raiding Viet Cong bases.

The sacrifice of North Vietnamese troops seems a high and cruel price to pay for the preservation of South Vietnamese guerrillas.

But the annals of Communism are filled with equally ruthless gambles.

Drive Gets 445

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—A two-week Peace Corps recruitment drive at the University of California's Berkeley campus brought 445 enlistments for two-year tours of duty in developing nations, the university reported.

The figure was the largest reported for any campus in the United States, and above Berkeley's 1964 total of 413 recruits.

Only Two Mills For One Year

'Yes' Vote Dec. 6 On Airport Millage Urged

Endorsement of the 2 mill tax for only 1 year to improve the Escanaba Airport which will be voted in a special Delta County election on Monday, Dec. 6, was given today by several community leaders.

The Delta County Board of Supervisors called the special election after a citizens committee including several board members studied the airport needs of Delta County. It reported that economic growth of the area requires improvement of the airport, whose present administration building is inadequate and dangerous, whose sanitary facilities are primitive, and which needs extension of its long runway to accommodate the new jet planes.

City Pays Big Part

The Delta Board of Supervisors said that a "Yes" vote would be interpreted as a directive for the county to take over the ownership and operation of the airport from the city, which now owns and operates it. The county board has given the city a substantial annual sum for the airport account, of which the city pays 42 per cent, because that is the city's share of the county taxes.

A broader tax base has been sought for support of the airport because its benefits are general in the Delta County area and because it is in need of capital improvements if it is to keep its position as an air service facility.

Endorsing the project and urging a "Yes" vote on the 2 mills for 1 year on Dec. 6 were:

John Anthony, head of Anthony & Co., and chairman of the Airport Study Committee: "We are a rather small manufacturer of items which go principally to paint manufacturers. Our market is national and as such demands that I can quickly and easily get to any of the major cities of this country. Without good public air transportation readily available, our business would suffer considerably."

"The existence of good airport facilities is an absolute essential to needed economic development. Our distance from major markets is such that no manufacturing company today can consider this area as a plant location without such facilities."

Richard L. Rinehart, president, Bay de Noc Community College: "Our college makes regular use of the commercial airlines and depends upon the service provided to maintain the contact necessary for an institution of higher education. A new terminal building and the proposed expansion of facilities would certainly have a distinct benefit for the college as well as for the community. Many of our conferences and faculty interviews involve air travel and the effectiveness of this would be enhanced considerably by the proposed improvements."

N. Reuben Sjoquist, manager, Gladstone Plant, Dynamatic Division, Eaton Manufacturing Co.: "We are convinced that it is increasingly important for this area to maintain and improve adequate and modern airport facilities. One of the prime considerations in Eaton Manufacturing Co. locating in Gladstone was its proximity to the airport and its capability to handle company planes as well as commercial flights."

"We certainly would endorse any plan to provide adequate, convenient and safe facilities at the airport that would encompass any planning for possible future expansion when and if this airport should become the 'Hub' in aerial transport for the U. P."

R. J. Burroughs, president, Northern Motor Rebuilders, Inc.: "On behalf of our company I would like to wholeheartedly support the recommendations of the Airport Study Committee regarding improvements at Escanaba Airport. As an introduction to Escanaba it leaves much to be desired. Anyone deplaning at Escanaba is shocked at the inadequate airport facilities available at the present time. "Recently North Central Airlines announced plans to purchase jet passenger aircraft in the very near future. It is quite obvious that our present runways cannot accommodate this type of aircraft. We believe that, with the extension of the runways and the availability of jet aircraft, a definite step forward would be taken to attract new industries to the city."

Jack Berg, owner, Peterson Shoes: "From a retailer's standpoint, we feel that there is a definite need for improved air transportation and especially air freight service in the Escanaba area. We are able to telephone or wire a special order for shoes and have them shipped by air freight and we will receive them within 24 to 48 hours, which in some cases is necessary to satisfy a customer. We heartily support the Airport Study Committee report."

John L. Oberg, engineering technician, U. S. Geological Survey: "In keeping with the progress of Escanaba and the surrounding area we believe that the recommendation of your committee concerning the Escanaba Airport is thoroughly justified. This being to erect a new, relocated terminal building, new access road, aprons and taxiways and the extension of the east-west runway from the present 5,000 feet to 6,500 feet, enabling its use by jet aircraft."

"The present facilities appear to be cramped and outdated in relation to the present volume of air traffic and considered the needs for the future."

Charles Folio, assistant director, University of Michigan Extension Service: "It is unfortunate that Escanaba has the poorest airport facilities of any city in the Upper Peninsula of comparable size and although we have one of the largest concentrations of population in the U. P., we have been getting along under utterly inadequate facilities."

"The University of Michigan uses North Central Airlines frequently in transporting people from Ann Arbor to the Upper Peninsula. Most of them land here in Escanaba because our office is here and many of our courses and activities either begin here or are centered here. An improved airport will be of great benefit to us."

David O. Farrand, industrial development specialist, Upper Peninsula Committee on Area Progress: "The proposals for the airport will be a decided economic stimulation to the entire Delta County Area. I sincerely recommend and endorse this proposal. Unquestionably it will result in more air travel and air transportation and hence will add to the betterment of the economic climate of the Upper Peninsula."

Arthur T. Pope, executive vice president, American Timber Homes, Inc.: "We very much favor the Study Committee's recommendations that the Escanaba Airport and its facilities be improved. We not only use the airline extensively-

Shop Early For Advice On Taxes

One of the typical questions asked of Internal Revenue Service officers at the Escanaba IRS office in the federal building is:

"My fiancé and I are planning a December wedding. Will that entitle us to file jointly as a married couple for the entire year?"

If the answer could be "Yes" it would provide a tidy Christmas gift for a newlywed couple. The answer is: "Yes it will. Marital status is determined as of the last day of the tax year."

Other typical questions asked of the IRS are:

Q—A friend of mine is still liable for his Federal taxes even though he went bankrupt. Why does he still owe for taxes and not for anything else?

A—The law provides that although commercial debts of a legally declared bankrupt are dissolved, federal taxes remain a legally collectible debt.

Q—Can I still claim my kids only income and be less than $600?

A—No. Generally, interest income from bonds purchased by a parent with his own funds for minor children is taxable to the parent. This would apply in the case you cite where the child is made co-owner of the bonds. Savings bonds interest should be reported for the year in which the bonds are cashed, unless you choose to report the interest as it accrues each year.

Tributes Paid To Blackstone

COLON (UPI) — This city of 1,000 paid tribute to its most famous resident Wednesday, after receiving word that Harry Blackstone died Tuesday night in Hollywood, his home for the past several years.

The magician who delighted mystified millions during his career came here each summer for more than 25 years for rest and relaxation, and it was here the Blackstone Magic Co. was founded shortly after Blackstone first discovered the town during the 1920s.

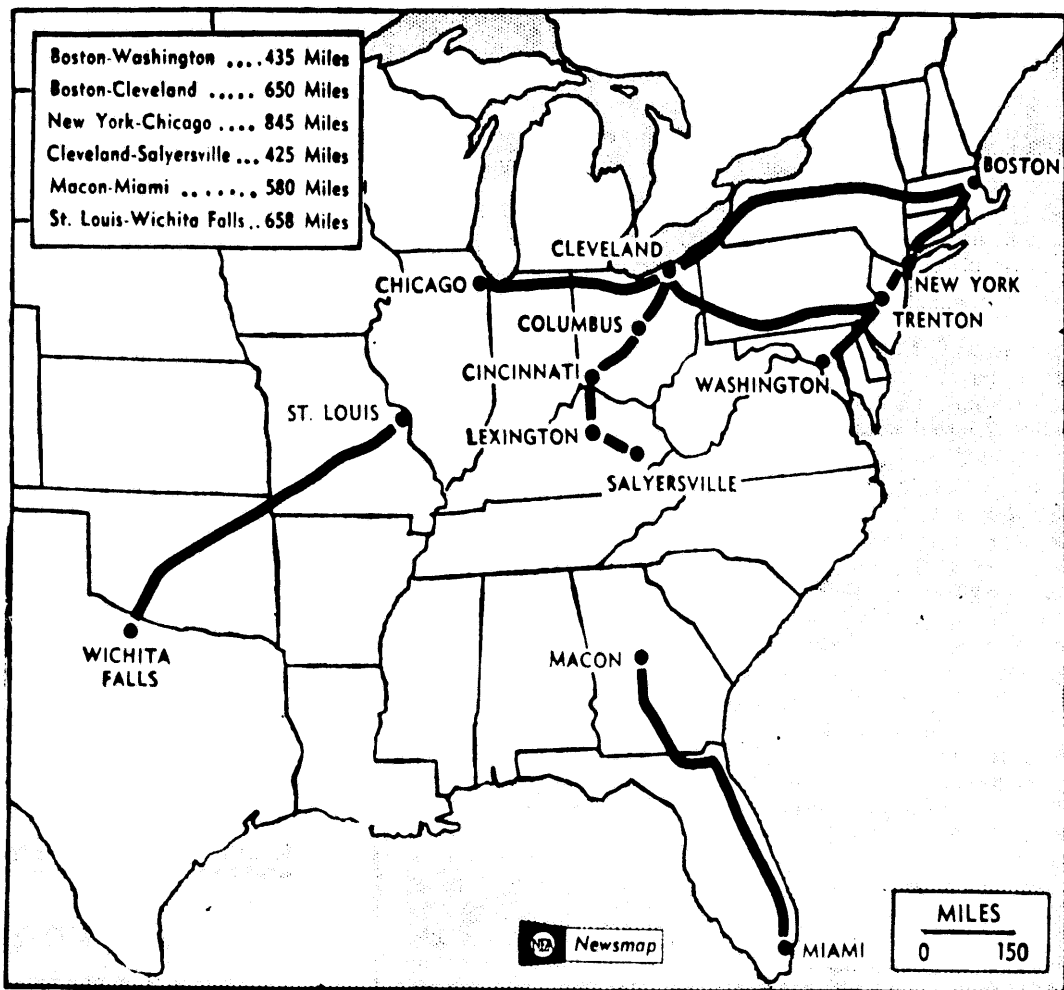

Flags around the city were flown at half staff Wednesday for the resident of Blackstone's Island which like the man's magic was really an illusion. The island is really a peninsula jutting into Sturgeon Lake.

Blackstone returned here each summer until about 1945, and it was here in 1961 he made his final professional appearance.

That came during the annual magician's convention held each summer when hundreds of professional magicians are drawn here by the magic of Blackstone's name.

Each performance was a complete sellout.

The Main Street of Colon is now Blackstone Avenue by order of the mayor and city council, a tribute to the man who made this the nation's magic capitol.

LOOK MA—NO STOP LIGHTS!—Slowly, but steadily, nonstop highways are snaking along, particularly in the traffic-congested East. Newsmap above shows how nonstop links between cities are lengthening. You can now buzz along the 435 miles of the nation's most crowded highways between Boston and Washington without pulling up for a red light. The same goes for the long stretch between Boston and Saltersville, Ky., via Cleveland, Cincinnati and Lexington. The Western motorist enjoys fewer "all-go" routes, but one notable run is the uninterrupted traffic flow between St. Louis and Wichita Falls, Tex.

Drink Bottler Found Unfair

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Labor Relations Board said Tuesday it has upheld a trial examiner's decision which found a northern Michigan soft drink bottler guilty of unfair labor practices.

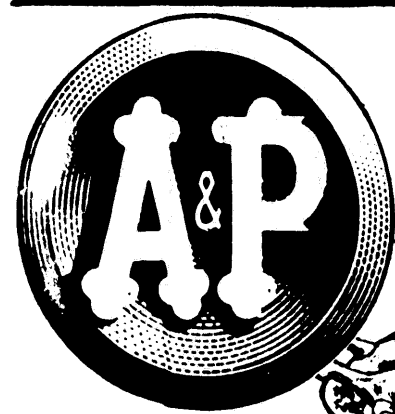

The board upheld a March 31 decision by trial examiner Alba B. Martin against the H. W. Elson Bottling Co., with plants in Marquette and Ishpeming. Martin ordered the firm to cease and desist from anti-union activities on the basis of a complaint brought by Teamsters and Chauffeurs Local union No. 328.

The union complaint stemmed from attempts by several of the firm's employees in 1964 to be represented by the union.

Among other things, the firm was ordered to halt threatening to close one or both of its plants rather than meet the union's demands, promising wage increases to employees in order to encourage employees to abandon the union, and granting wage and commission increases to discourage further activity and support for the union.

The board also upheld Martin's dismissal of a portion of the complaint seeking reinstatement of Robert Carlson and James Tucker, who were laid off, and Gerald Ratelle, who was discharged during the dispute.

Copper Prices Under The Gun

boosts in another key metal, aluminum.

The defense chief said the government planned to sell 200,000 tons of copper from the national strategic stockpile; ask for duty cuts to encourage imports of foreign copper; seek to raise margin requirements on the New York commodities exchange to discourage speculation in copper; and put new, stiffer controls on copper exports.

With the exception of one major producer—Kemecott Copper Corp.—U.S. companies recently raised their prices 2 cents, from 36 to 38 cents a pound. This price increase has been under review by administration economists.

The U.S. copper industry had no comment immediately on the government's move, and McNamara refused to predict if his actions would force the

Mrs. Murker Dies In Hospital

Mrs. Clif W. Murker, 66, of 324 Minnesota Ave., lifetime Gladstone resident and past member of the Al-35 inter-section of the Al-35 inter-section, died at the hospital at St. Francis Hospital at 5:45 a. m. today.

She had been hospitalized for the past two weeks.

Mrs. Murker was born Helen L. Long in Gladstone on June 15, 1899. She attended Gladstone schools and Marquette Normal College and was married July 14, 1920, in Escanaba.

She was a member of Memorial Methodist Church and very active in the Order of Eastern Star.

Survivors, besides her husband, include four daughters, Mrs. Kenneth (Genevieve) Plankman, Mrs. Harold (Merita) Kleinman, both of Gladstone, Mrs. Reno (Anna Sue) Norell of Ishpeming, and Mrs. Ralph (Lous) Thompson of Escanaba.

14 grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. Carl Johnson of Curtis; and a half-brother, Gordon Long, both of Chicago.

The body was taken to the Skradski Funeral Home.

Girl Scouts Sell Candy Saturday

A Girl Scout uniform, exchange and candy sale will be held at the James T. Jones School Saturday from 1 to 2:30 p. m.

Several Brownie, Junior and Cadet Scout uniforms are on hand and those who have uniforms they wish to sell should call GAO-6831 or GAO-9014.

Briefly Told

Officials of Barco Construction Co. reported to State Police Wednesday that 20 gallons of gasoline had been stolen from a tank on their road building project site on M-25 north of Gladstone. Troopers are investigating.

Double Robbery

LANSDOVER, Md. (UPI)—Authorities are investigating the robbery of two banks located within a block of each other within a two hour period.

The holdups, which netted a total of $16,000, were not believed to be connected. The first occurred shortly before 10 a. m. Wednesday at a Southern Maryland Bank and Trust Co. branch near a shopping center.

While detectives were investigating another robbery took place at an American National Bank of an American branch in the center.

Alta V. Ritchie, 17, of Bark River, was arrested by State Police in Bark River Wednesday. She had escaped from the State Training School for Girls at Adrian.

Troopers Seek Hit-Run Driver After Accident

State Police continued to search for a hit-and-run driver today who sideswiped a car on U.S. 2 inside the Gladstone city limits at about 10 p. m. Wednesday.

Frank J. McIntyre, 43, of 1315 Wisconsin Ave., Gladstone, told police he was southbound on U.S. 2 about two tenths of a mile north of the Al-35 intersection when a car nosed into him from the right, struck his car and continued without stopping.

McIntyre was not injured.

Troopers ticketed Edson King, 43, of Rapid River, for driving under the influence of alcohol and also for not having an operator's license after he was involved in a two-car accident at 5:50 p. m. in Rapid River. He was lodged in the Delta County jail today awaiting arraignment.

State Police said King pulled onto U.S. 2 from Main St. in Rapid River and sideswiped a pickup truck driven by Dennis J. Hendrickson, 24, of 616 E. Newberry.

James T. Jamnik, 36, of the Richland, Mich., reported to State Police that a house trailer he was pulling came loose and rolled off U.S. 2 into a ditch in Ensign Township.

Crop Output Is Under 1964

LANSING (UPI)—The Michigan Crop Reporting Service has announced total production of 17 major field and fruit crops is expected to be about 9 per cent below the 1964 figure and 2 per cent below the 1959-63 average.

The agriculture agency said wet soils and cloudy skies slowed harvest of grain corn, soybeans, potatoes and other fall crops during October.

Major fruit production was expected to be down about 12 per cent from the 1964 record level but still remain above average, the crop service said.

Michigan's fall potato crop will be a record 9.1 million hundredweight, the agency said. The grain corn crop was expected to decline from a year ago.

Dairy and poultry production during October was unchanged from last year.

HEALTHY COVERAGE—Some type of voluntary health insurance covers 79 per cent of the civilian population of the United States. Map gives state-by-state breakdown of the distribution. Northeastern region is highest in percentage, 88 per cent. Next is the Midwest, 86 per cent. Western region has 72 per cent coverage, and the South 70 per cent. Only Alaska rates below the 50 per cent line. Hawaii is in the 50-75 bracket. Data from Health Insurance Institute.

Letter Writers Skip Zip Code

WASHINGTON (UPI)—More than half the nation's letter writers are rejecting repeated government pleas to use the zip code.

But postal authorities aren't discouraged. They say it was inevitable the program would take some time to catch on.

With high hopes of hastening that day, they continue to relentlessly plug zip mail with a massive promotional campaign involving public service notices in newspapers, announcements on radio and television, colorful posters and press releases.

The campaign has taken more unique turns. A dog that began following a Texas postman along his route every day soon found himself wearing a jacket bearing the slogan "use zip code."

When a popular comic strip tyke lost his security blanket in the mail he received a letter from Postmaster General John F. Kennedy. "Dear Lums, if you had used your zip code in your return address, in all probability your blanket would be back by now."

Spot Check Made

A spot check by the Post Office Department indicates that 37.1 per cent of individuals and small businesses use zip codes when addressing first class mail. About half of them, 49.9 per cent, put their zip codes in return addresses.

The department says 89 per cent of the 95,200 large business firms which it has contacted have agreed to participate in the zip program.

Public acceptance of the code, veteran postal officials say, is developing much faster than it did for zone numbers 20 years ago. A notable breakthrough in putting over the zip code occurred recently when the White House agreed to use it for the first time.

Former Postmaster General J. Edward Day, under whose regime the program was begun 27 months ago, says its progress has been good. He predicts that "it will continue to grow with the proper constant push and promotion." But Day expressed disappointment "that so many big mailers are opposing it."

Gronouski, who is the new ambassador to Poland, says he left the Post Office Department convinced that zip "is the most important development of the last 100 years in postal history."

"Naturally, we expected some opposition to the program," he adds. "But I venture to guess that even its opponents will eventually concede that zip code in the long run will benefit postal employees, improve mail service to the public and save money for the taxpayer."

Most organized opposition is coming from the associated third class mail users. Members are wailing over a requirement that all second and third class bulk mailers begin using the code by Jan. 1, 1967, to retain their cheaper postage rate. They resent the money and effort required to overhaul their mailing lists.

The Post Office Department is tentatively planning to extend the requirement to first class volume mail later, but there is no talk of requiring individual mail users to write in the code.

Under present plans, however, letter-writers would have to use the code to assure overnight delivery anywhere in the United States. The government hopes to implement this by 1967.

Eagles Backing GIs In Viet Nam

MILWAUKEE—It is important that the Eagles show our fighting men in Vietnam that we are behind them," Max F. Schroeder, national grand worthy president of the Fraternal Order of Eagles said in an appeal to the membership of the order. "One of the ways to do this," he wrote, "is to send a gift or news from home to every young man from his home town. Another way is to expand the Eagle's cooperation with CARE in meeting emergency needs of the refugees and war victims in South Vietnam."

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: We use different color felt pens to mark the tops of new nylon hose.

As one stocking becomes unwearable, it is easy to find its mate by looking at the mark on top (same brand and color from same store isn't necessarily alike, as different dye lots change). With so many colors almost alike, it is difficult to tell the colors apart after washing a time or two.

If you have many pairs of stockings, and not enough different colors of felt pens to go around, use different designs, numbers or letters.

In our house there are six girls wearing nylons now, and we have to use the person's initials as well as a color mark to identify the nosery.

No problems or arguments—if one girl has on another's stockings (can and does happen), oh boy, the mark is a dead giveaway.

Reader: LETTER OF LAUGHTER Dear Heloise: I like to chew bubble gum, but the bubbles always stuck on my face.

Now I put petroleum jelly around my mouth so the gum doesn't stick any more.

Paulette Desautiers: Dear Heloise: If you will put extra soap in the rinse water for blue nylon and blue terry-cloth garments, it will brighten the color, and keep them looking "new blue."

Mrs. Olsen: Dear Heloise: Here's a hint for washday, which saves a little time and detergent.

Instead of putting bleach into my washing machine, I add it to my first rinse water.

By doing this, I don't have to throw away clean, soapy water which I couldn't ordinarily use for my colored clothes if the bleach was added to it.

I wash all of my white bleaching clothes first, then put them into the rinse water with the bleach, and soak them for about five or 10 minutes. After I've done this, all I do is empty the rinse tubs and put clean water in for the colored clothes.

My clothes seem to come much whiter this way.

Mrs. Pat M. "Intlock": Dear Heloise: Many of us use canned milk, and like to take advantage of sales on this item, but find the milk thickens after the unopened cans have been in storage for a while.

Don't despair—simply shake the can vigorously before opening, and the milk will flow freely.

Dorothy P.: Dear Heloise: I converted an unused silver chest into a first-rate sewing box, which looks good anywhere in the house.

The knife slots are handy for scissors, skeins of cotton, tape, or anything which fits. The block containing spoon slots is easily removable, and square plastic boxes for pins, etc., fitted in.

Plastic bags makes it easy to choose buttons without too much sorting. Needles and pins can be stuck in the lining.

There's lots of room for everything I like to have handy.

Patricia Cassin: Bride Of Ronald Latsch

GERMFAK—A former resident Ronald Keith Latsch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Latsch of St. Charles, Mich., took Patricia Lou Cassin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Cassin of St. Charles for his bride Nov. 6 in a double ring ceremony at 4 p.m. in the St. John's Lutheran Church at Hemlock. Attendants were Jeanne Latsch, Donald Robbins. Ushers were two brothers-in-law of the couple.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a long white wedding gown of chantilly lace over taffeta, with a fitted bodice, sabrina neckline and long tapered sleeves. The bouffant skirt featured an apronlike pannier edged with lace ruffles from waistline. A long train edged with lace ruffles was attached to the shoulder. Her fingertip white organza veil was held by a tiny jeweled crown and she carried a colonial bouquet of pink and white daisies and mums.

The maid of honor wore a floor-length white brocade taffeta gown, featuring a fitted bodice, sabrina neckline, long sleeves and bouffant skirt. Her shoulder length veil was held by a tiny crown. She carried a pink and white bouquet of mums and daisies. The mother of the bridegroom wore a three piece blue tweed suit with black accessories. Mrs. Cassin wore a blue brocade dress with matching accessories and both mothers wore red and white carnation corsages.

A reception was held after the wedding at the Merlin Grotto Hall at Saginaw. The bride and groom are graduates of St. Charles High School. The bridegroom served for three years with the Air Force before returning to his home in June. The newlyweds will make their home at St. Charles.

H. G. Forsman Taken By Death

Helmer G. Forsman, 55, of 1716 9th Ave. S. was dead on arrival at St. Francis Hospital at 8:30 a. m. Wednesday morning. He suffered a heart attack at the Escanaba airport where he had gone to say goodbye to friends. He was born in Chicago on Dec. 23, 1910. He was employed at the Fair Store. A member of Immanuel Lutheran Church, he served in World War II in the Army.

He is survived by his widow, the former Edna Wickstrom; one daughter, Carol of Escanaba; one sister, Mrs. Irwin Olson, Manistowic, Ill.

The body has been removed to the Anderson Funeral Home and will lie in state from 4 to 9:30 p. m. Friday. Funeral services will be held at 11 a. m. Saturday at the Immanuel Lutheran Church with the Rev. Roger Patrow officiating. Burial will be in Gardens of Rest Cemetery.

Ted Breitenbach Speaks At Ford River PTA

The Ford River PTA met last evening at the school and Mrs. John McMahon, president, thanked all the members who contributed to and helped at the recent Halloween Carnival. It was approved to give a donation to Mrs. Antoinette Sanhuber's 2nd grade for room supplies. New curtains for the cafeteria will be made with Mrs. Bruce Rauma in charge. Additional help would be appreciated. The PTA Council report was given by Mrs. Harold Ogren and room count was won by John Holchowst's 6th grade.

Ford River has charge of the Founder's Day program to be held in February and members are to submit a name of an individual in PTA, education or business who has done outstanding work for youth and upon approval they will receive recognition in the form of a Distinguished Service Award at the program.

It was decided to have a games party at the December meeting with Mrs. Wayne St. Vincent in charge. Ted Breitenbach, guest for the evening spoke on the hot lunch program stating that the school hot lunch program is the largest single buyer of food in the country. A question and answer period followed.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Bruce Rauma, Mrs. Harvey Beauchamp, Mrs. James Loftquist, Mrs. Charles Miller and Mrs. James Ness.

New State Law:

Open Garbage Dump Must Go

Michigan has a new law that is intended to take the stink, rats and smoke out of the garbage dumps in the state — and it likely will require cities such as Escanaba to halt present methods of garbage disposal.

"Under the provisions of this act open garbage dumps are prohibited," City Manager George Harvey has advised the City Council.

The city manager said that he is in correspondence with the Michigan Department of Health and he expects the Department will send an inspector not only to Escanaba but to all other communities in the Upper Peninsula.

"When the inspection will be made we have not been informed, but it will be as part of a trip to the U. P.," Harvey said. "He will look over the dump here and tell us how its operation will be affected by the new law."

Under provisions of the act the city will have to obtain a license from the state (there is no fee) and the license will be issued only after inspection and approval of the disposal area. The license may be revoked for non-compliance with the act.

"Open dumps are specified as any site where refuse is dumped and which, due to lack of control, may create a breeding place for flies and rats, may at times catch fire, produce air pollution, or may cause other health hazards," Harvey explained.

"Sanitary land fills are the implied methods of disposal facilities suggested, although there are other methods that could be used. Incinerators may be used, but to the small city this appears prohibitive in cost and feasibility."

The city manager described the method of garbage incineration and noted its difficulties, including separation of the garbage before it is burned. Closed type incineration does not require stacks and there are no odors.

The possible use of the city steam plant for closed type incineration was suggested, after the plant is phased out of operation in another year because of the conversion to natural gas.

The manager suggested a study be made relative to the costs of land fill garbage disposal as opposed to the present method of dump operation and hauling. The soil is ideal for the land fill type of disposal and there are suitable areas available.

Gas Explosion Burns Hunters

A father and his son who were deer hunting in Alger County were treated for first and second degree burns Wednesday by a Gladstone physician after a gas explosion turned their campsite into an inferno.

State Police said Omar Brown, 43, of Linden, Mich., and his son, Larry, 13, were released after treatment.

Larry told State Police that he was standing near a tent which was attached to a "camper" trailer when he smelled gas. He said there was an explosion which threw him into the air and when he came down he ran into a field.

Omar, who told police he believes the explosion was caused by a stray bullet which punctured their stove gas tank, said he was standing between a second and third tent at the site when he heard a "rush of air" and explosion. The explosion threw him onto a tent, which burst into flames.

State Police said the "camper" trailer and its contents were destroyed. Cause of the explosion has not been determined, troopers said.

The Browns were camped in Limestone Township of Alger County, about two miles north of the Delta County line.

Coaches Pick Starters For Opening Tilt

Rival coaches at Escanaba and Holy Name today named their starting lineups for the season opening clash at the Eskymo gym Friday night.

Coach Harold Johnson of the host Eskymos listed seven players from whom he will select his starters at game time.

The Escanaba guards will be Rick Kutchenberg and Bob Haack, a pair of 5 foot 9 inch seniors. Opening at center will be Bernie Larson or Bob Myrvall, both juniors. Myrvall is 6-5 and Larson 6-4. The forwards will be selected from senior Paul Miller, 6-1; senior Steve Oman, 6-0, and junior Jim Boyle, 6-0.

All of the seven possible starters, all but Myrvall are lettermen who saw considerable action last season. Miller was the team's leading point producer last year with 193.

Johnson indicated that Dave Nyquist, 6 foot 5 inch junior, would probably not be used because of a knee injury suffered in football. Nyquist was hospitalized for treatment of the knee and rejoined the squad this week, but has not been able to take part in full practice drills.

Coach John Butrymowicz of the invading Crusaders will start his tallest players in an effort to match the Escanaba height. The Holy Name coach today named four juniors and one senior to starting positions. He has no returning lettermen from last season's team.

Opening at guards will be 6-1 junior Greg Brandt and 5-9 senior Jim Anderson. The center will be 6-2 junior Tom Smith. The forwards will be 6-2 Jerry Wiles and 6-1 Tom Plouff, both juniors.

The five starters represent the only 6-footers on the Crusader team, which includes only three seniors this season.

The game, starting at 8:30, will be the first Great Northern basketball conference meeting between the two schools. Jayvees will meet in a preliminary contest.

Four Tigers Receive Votes

BOSTON (UPI) — Four Detroit Tiger players received votes in the balloting for the 1965 Baseball Writers' Association of America Most Valuable Player Award in the American League.

Outfielder Willie Horton placed the highest among the Tigers given votes. Horton finished eighth with 24 points.

Zoilo Versalles, who helped lead the Minnesota Twins to the American League pennant last season, was a near unanimous choice for the MVP award with 19 of 20 first place votes and 275 points.

Versalles' teammate, batting champion Tony Oliva, was a distant second, getting the other first place vote and 174 points.

Al Kaline finished 16th in the voting with nine points. Don Wert was 11th with 22 points, and Norm Cash had one point to finish 33rd in the balloting.

The last Detroit player to win the award was Hal Newhouser in 1945. Newhouser, one of the greatest pitchers in Tiger history, also won the MVP award in 1944.

Other Detroit winners were Mickey Cochrane, 1934, Hank Greenberg, 1935 and 1940, and Charley Gehringer, 1937.

Brooks Robinson, the Baltimore Oriole third baseman who won the award in 1964, placed third in the voting this year with 150 points.

Versalles Most Valuable American League Player

BOSTON (UPI) — Zoilo Versalles, the Minnesota Twins shortstop, was named the American League's Most Valuable Player for 1965.

A committee of the Baseball Writers' Association of America made the 24-year-old infielder an overwhelming choice by giving him 19 of 20 first-place votes and a single second-place ballot.

Versalles, a go-go guy whose solid hitting, determined base running and far-ranging fielding was a key to the Twins' American League pennant march, was on a ticket-selling mission at Altoona, Wis., when he learned of his runaway victory over Twin outfielder Tony Oliva in the annual voting.

"Oh my God," he told United Press International. "Excuse me, I've got to go pray."

Running Feud
It was just about eight months ago that Versalles riled Sam Mele, Minnesota's American League manager, of the year, by his failure to go all-out after a ground ball in a pre-season exhibition game with the New York Mets.

Mele immediately pulled Versalles from the lineup and launched off one of the funniest disputes of the season in which the fiery Cuban-born shortstop talked his way to a $300 fine. Versalles needed Mele with the then-popular rumor that third-base coach Billy Martin would be the next Minnesota manager.

"That'll cost you $100," Mele is reported to have said to launch their dugout debate. "Make it $200," Versalles answered. "Okay, it's $200," Mele replied. "How about three?" the shortstop snapped. And Mele once again agreed.

The dispute and escalating fine were summarily called off at that point but Versalles settled down to become the Twins' sorely needed leader.

Versalles batted a relatively unimpressive .273 but he led the major leagues in runs scored with 126 and paced the American League in at bats with 666 and total bases with 308 as well as tying for doubles

William Eckert Gets Job

Retired Air Force General Is Baseball Commissioner

CHICAGO (UPI) — New baseball Commissioner William D. Eckert won't be a "czar" but says he will insist on calling signals.

Eckert, 56, a retired three-star Air Force general, was chosen unanimously Wednesday by the 20 major league club owners to replace retiring Commissioner Ford C. Frick.

He made it clear immediately that he believed he had full authority to operate for the best interests of baseball and that he intended to assume that authority.

"I've never operated as a czar," he told newsmen, "but I'm going to call signals as I see them in all fairness and equity in the interests of the public, the players and the franchises."

"I agree there is full authority for me to step in and do the job that needs to be done."

Started Immediately
Eckert, who took over as commissioner immediately under a seven-year contract at $65,000 per year, said he would begin immediately to learn about his new job, through conferences with Frick, American and National League Presidents Joe Cronin and Warren Giles, and other baseball figures.

"I'm going to encourage clean sports and honest competion," he said, "but I'll be better prepared in three months to say how I'll handle the job as commissioner of baseball. I'm ready to go to work now and I plan to get in touch with Frick and his staff immediately."

The owners also approved selection of Lee S. MacPhail, president and general manager

Eben Has New Coach, Players On Cage Squad

EBEN — The loss of eight lettermen from last year's team that captured the Central League championship and ran up a 19-2 overall record presents new coach Jim Jacobson with a major rebuilding chore at Eben High School this season.

Jacobson succeeds Jim Depew who resigned to take a similar position at Newberry.

Back in action from last year's crack outfit are four senior letter winners in Tom Woodard, Dave Brissan, Jerry Seppi and Arne Haavisto.

Rounding out the squad are junior James Seppi, Ken Alto and Len Salminen and sophomores Jim Lehtomaki, Paul Salminen, Terry Hakola, Bruce Kallio and Peter Niemi.

"Even though we lost eight players from last year's team through graduation we feel we could have a good season. If some of our younger boys can come through for us, we will surprise many teams," the new mentor stated.

The Eben players who were lost via graduation include Andy Freberg, Bill Carlson, Keith Alto, Stan Smith, Dan Johnson, Wayne Johnson, John Woodard and Bruce Hill.

Eben will host a Holiday tournament this season with games scheduled Dec. 27, 28 and 30. Competing will be seven Central League teams and Marquette Bishop Baraga.

The Eben schedule:

Nov. 19 - Cooks here	Nov. 24 - Nahnna here
Nov. 30 - Trenary here	Dec. 10 - Rapid River here
Dec. 11 - Perkins here	Dec. 14 - Bark River here
Dec. 17 - Rock here	Dec. 27 - Holiday tourney
Dec. 28 - Holiday tourney	Dec. 30 - Holiday tourney
Jan. 5 - Perkins here	Jan. 14 - National Mine here
Jan. 21 - Bark River here	Jan. 25 - Trenary here
Jan. 28 - Rapid River here	Feb. 4 - Nahnna here
Feb. 11 - Garden here	Feb. 18 - Cooks here

Tough Defense Game Expected

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI) — National statistics confirmed today what Notre Dame football Coach Ara Parseghian has said all week—Saturday's Irish game with No. 1 ranked Michigan State will be a battle of defenses.

The Spartans have allowed opponents only 52 yards per game on the ground in nine games, the best in the country. The Irish are second best, permitting only 69.5 yards per game.

In total defense, Michigan State ranks fourth, allowing 187 yards per game and Notre Dame eighth, permitting 196.4 yards per game.

In defense against scoring Michigan State leads, allowing 6.6 points per game and Notre Dame fifth, allowing 7.6.

Offensively though, there's little to choose between the two. Notre Dame is the nation's best team gaining on the ground, 255.3 yards per game, and Michigan State is sixth with 240 yards per game. In total offense Michigan State is fourth best, 363.9 yards per game, and Notre Dame 11th, 351 yards per game.

Statistically maybe the game should end in a tie, but Notre Dame, ranked fourth nationally, was a one-point favorite. The Irish have a 7-1 record for the season and Michigan State 9-0.

Little League Champs Feted

The VFW Little League team, winner of the Escanaba Jayvee league championship this year, were honored at a banquet by the Auxiliary to Hiawatha Post 2998 at the VFW club rooms Wednesday night.

Managers Don Ohman and Clarence Londo, introduced by Commander Ernest Briere, gave a brief resume of the season. The dinner was attended by 13 boys and seven fathers. Movies were shown following the banquet.

Floyd Like Missionary

Patterson Out Of Place In Glittering Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Floyd Patterson looks as out of place as a missionary in this fun town of gaudy girlie shows and shuttering slot machines and glittering neon lights.

The 30-year-old former heavyweight champion from Brooklyn is used to training in the mossy woodlands of Marlboro, N.Y., where he lives the quiet life of a virtual recluse for nine months out of each year.

Floyd doesn't like the town—it was here that he suffered his second straight one-round knockout at the hands of Sonny

Liston two years ago. But he has continued to train hard in distracting surroundings for what may be the last fight of his career.

Floyd's Crusade

If Patterson does look like a missionary in Las Vegas, it's not entirely out of character, for he came here on a mission. You could even call it a crusade.

Floyd is obsessed with the idea that the Black Muslims own Clay—an opinion shared by many other people—and he feels if he beats Cassius he will yank the carpet from under the Negro separatist movement and "give the title back to the people."

The subject of the Muslims—and Clay's affiliation with the group—came up again Wednesday at Patterson's news conference following his final public workout.

"I'd like to straighten out my feelings about the Muslims," Patterson said, "because a lot has been written and not all of it was true. I'm not against the whole movement, I'm simply against what they believe in as far as segregation is concerned."

No Comment

"As far as their religious beliefs are concerned, I have nothing to say about that. I have my religion (Patterson is a Roman Catholic) and they have theirs. But they're not right when they teach separation of the races."

Patterson then was asked about reports that the Muslims had been conducting a "war of harassment" against him.

He digested that question for several seconds, then answered "no."

However, Floyd wasn't too convincing and his questioners — to the ex-champ's obvious relief — changed the subject.

Drew (Bundini) Brown, who left Clay's camp recently because he refused to join the Black Muslims, watched Patterson's final sparring session.

Asked if he thought the Muslims had "reached" Patterson, Bundini said:

"Nah, I don't think so. He looks and sounds very relaxed. No pressure on him. He's thinking positive now. If he can just get a little vicious when he gets Clay in the ring, he can make a fight out of it."

While Patterson's workout was typical — quiet and solemn — Clay amused observers at his drill Wednesday by imitating Floyd's "peek-a-boo" style during a sparring session with Cody Jones.

Cassius even took a couple of prat falls after Jones landed light left hooks.

"Lots of people want to see how it would look, me being on the floor, so I decided I'd let you see," Clay explained. "It's the only time you'll see me in that position, though. I promise you."

Billy Conn, the ex-heavyweight champion, walked away in disgust after watching Clay's comedy act.

"I'm betting on Patterson," said the old Pittsburgh flash. "He takes this business of fighting seriously. Clay is a clown."

Hull Hits Two As Hawks Win

By United Press International
Bobby Hull, whose National Hockey League exploits are legendary among veteran players, surprised a rookie Wednesday night and led the Chicago Black Hawks to a 5-3 victory over the New York Rangers.

Hull scored two goals and brought his season total to 14. It was his first tally that put the game out of reach for the New Yorkers and surprised rookie goalie Ed Giacomin.

Giacomin, who likes to roam far from the goal, didn't expect Hull to fire from 45 feet out at the blue line but found the puck whizzing past his waist and into the net.

Stan Mikita, who also had two goals along with two assists, helped the Black Hawks gain a share of the NHL lead. Mikita raised his point total to 17 with his performance in the only NHL game scheduled.

Ken Wharram scored the other Chicago goal while Rod Gilbert, Bob Nevin and Bob Seiling tallied for the Rangers.

The Kansas City athletics drew 528,344 fans last season. It was the low figure in both leagues.

Big Ten Teams In Final Drills

By United Press International

Big Ten football teams ended their final contact drills for the season with the exception of Michigan State which will have to keep at conditioning exercises for its Rose Bowl assignment on New Year's Day.

However, the Spartans still have a date in Notre Dame Stadium Saturday and Coach Duffy Daugherty said he is hoping for his crew to turn in the best game of the season on that day.

Fullback Bob Apisa was expected to be able to play despite a knee injury, and this was good news to Daugherty, who had no other injury problems.

Snow Hampers Irish

At South Bend, Ind., Notre Dame's football practice was hampered by snow flurries. But Coach Ara Parseghian appeared as happy about the future as Daugherty as he watched star halfback Bill Wolski run with the regulars. Wolski missed the North Carolina game because of an injured knee.

Indians had its first and only contact drill of the week Wednesday as Coach John Pont prepared his charges for Purdue.

Northwestern worked to bolster its defenses against the likes of Illinois end John Wright and fullback Jim Grabowski.

Minnesota tried to inject punch into its running game before facing Wisconsin Saturday. The Gophers also worked on passing and defense.

Purdue Toils
Purdue toiled on pass defense in preparing for the Old Oaken Bucket struggle with Indiana.

Michigan practiced for an hour and a half against Ohio State-type defense. Coach Bump Elliott said he expected the Wolverines to be at full strength for the game.

Wisconsin worked for an hour and 15 minutes on reviews of offensive and defensive patterns. Ohio State wound up its rough work for the season with a hard drill in the stadium to escape near-freezing temperatures outdoors.

Sports In Brief

NEW YORK (UPI) — Roger Anderson was recalled from the New York taxi squad Wednesday and the Giants made room for the defensive tackle by releasing Mike Bundra, who had started every game at defensive tackle for New York.

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Tom Gola of the New York Knicks' cheerleaders accompanied the team to Baltimore today but was not expected to see action against the Bullets tonight because of a severely strained muscle in his right calf. The veteran backcourt man was injured in practice Wednesday.

PARIS (UPI) — The French Basketball Federation has selected a 13-man team for a tour of the United States. The squad will begin the tour Dec. 19 against Poland at Madison Square Garden in New York.

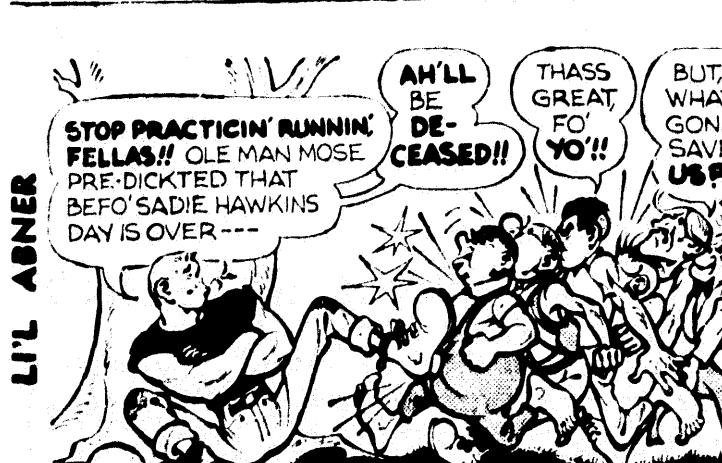

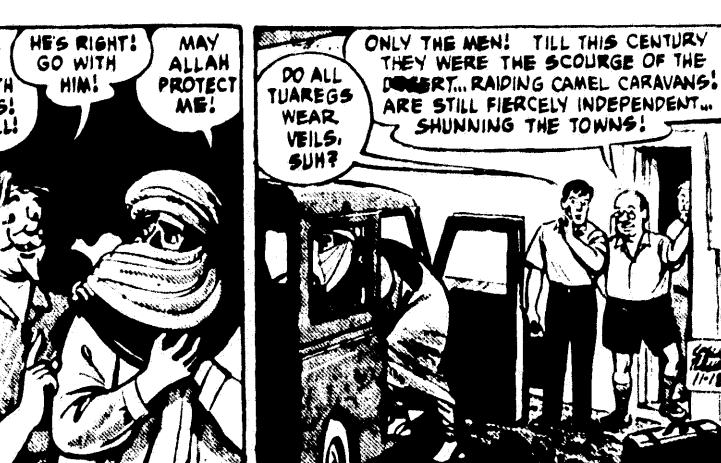

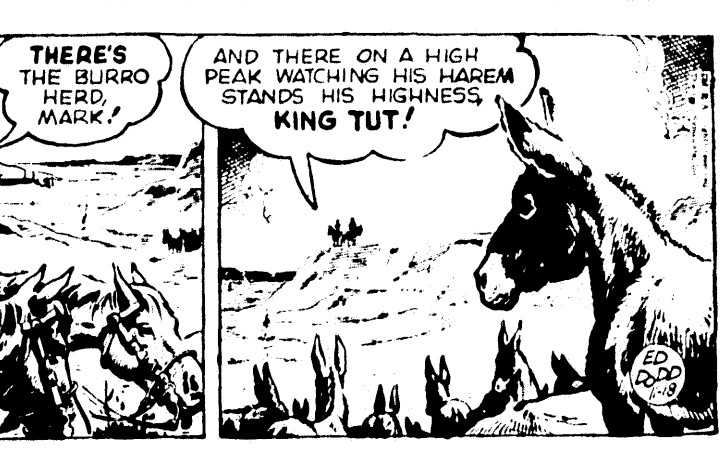

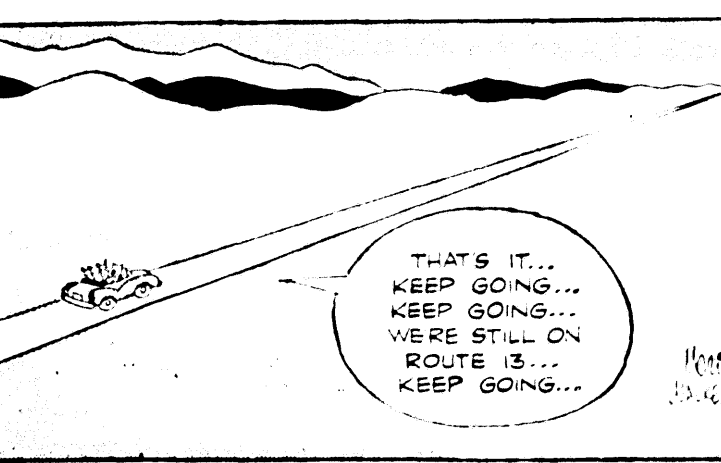

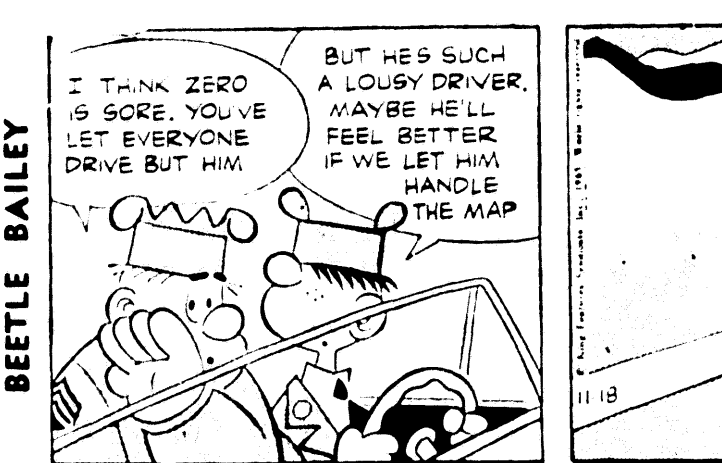

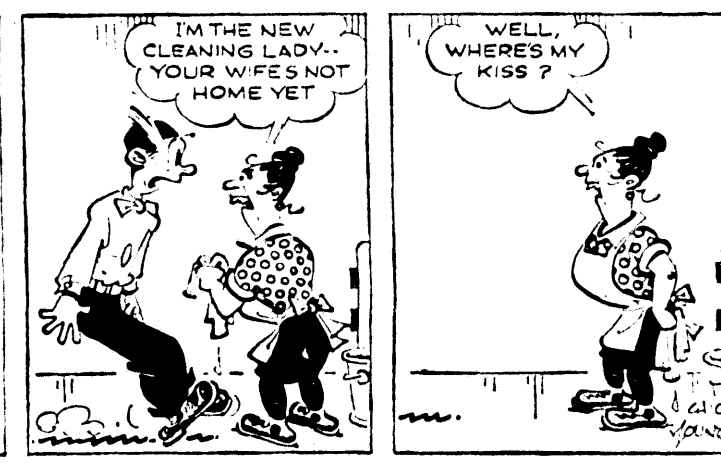

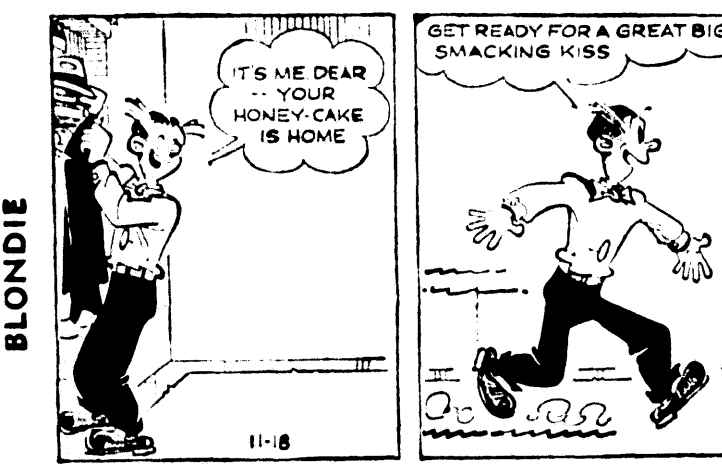

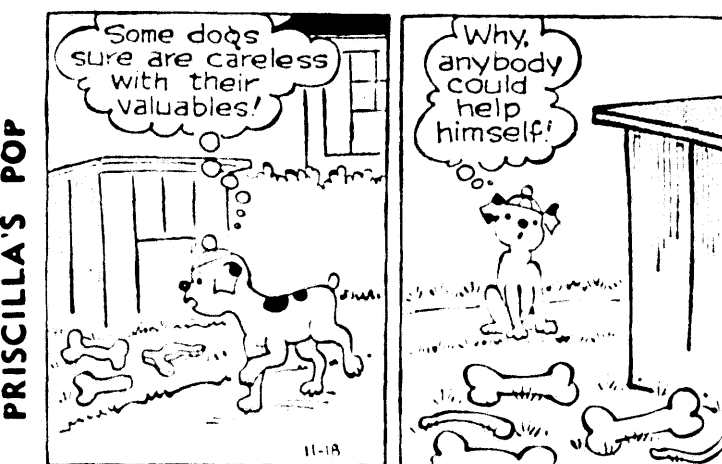

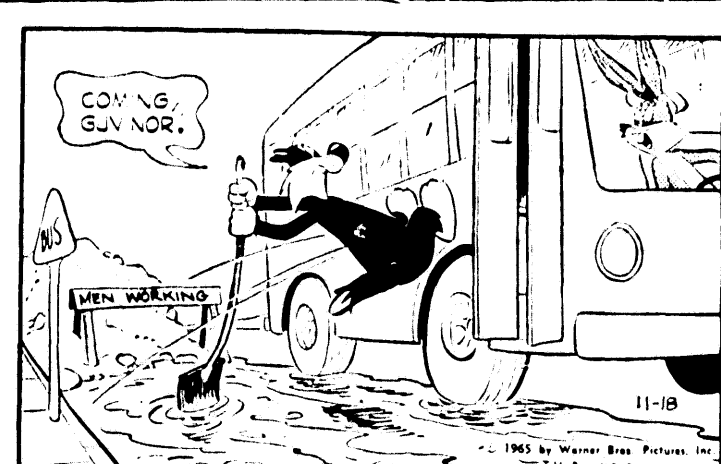

ST. PETERSBURG, Florida (UPI) — Right-hander Jack Hamilton of the New York Mets pitched a no-hitter Wednesday to beat the Detroit Tigers 4-0 in the seven-inning opener of a Florida Winter Instructional League doubleheader.

American League batting champion Pedro Oliva made 185 hits for the Minnesota Twins last season. He led the league in most hits while batting .321.

LaFave Named Tax Director

Patrick C. LaFave was hired as director of the Schoolcraft tax writing department at the board of supervisors meeting Tuesday night.

He will succeed Henry V. Trippe, who is resigning to accept a position in Lower Michigan. Salary for LaFave is set at $6,000.

A report of the tax writing and equalization department was presented by Trippe, who noted the department is five years old. In the time it has existed concentration was on appraisals and completing equalization and levy processes. The past year has been largely occupied with changes required by new legislation.

Trippe predicted the 1966 and 1967 assessment rolls will show slight increases and by 1968 the total county valuation will exceed $27 million, and continue rising each year.

Townships Plan Meeting Nov. 22

The eastern 11th Congressional group of the Michigan Manistique Assn. will meet in Manistique Monday, Nov. 22 in the courthouse. Joseph A. Parisi, state executive director will be among those present.

From 125 to 150 persons are expected from Alger, Chippewa, Delta, Luce, Mackinac, Menominee and Schoolcraft counties.

Clerks will meet with representatives of the Secretary of State on election law changes, and supervisors and treasurers with auditor general representatives on veteran and senior citizen exemptions and plat acts.

County home rule and proposals for county reapportionment are expected to be lively discussion topics.

School Tries Taped Lecture

A taped lecture in biology was used in Manistique High School with success Tuesday while the instructor, Glenn Bignall was in Lansing with the football team, and has probably opened the way for other uses of this procedure, especially for German and other classes where a substitute teacher is difficult to obtain.

Principal Marvin Frederickson said he and Mr. Bignall had discussed the possibility of taping a lecture for a time when he was away or ill, with only minor class supervision necessary. Any number of subjects could be covered in this type of lecture, enhancing any class, even though it did not coincide directly with the material being taught.

The 35-minute tape on exobiology took considerable time and preparation, including re-taping for speed.

"The day went by without a hitch," the principal said. A testing follow-up will be made for an evaluation by students and the instructor.

"This is important experimentation by the staff. We hope to provide an atmosphere in which students and teachers feel free to try new ideas, for new and better ways to knowledge," Frederickson said.

Coaches Pick Starters For Opening Tilt

Rival coaches at Escanaba and Holy Name today named their starting lineups for the season opening clash at the Eskymo gym Friday night.

Coach Harold Johnson of the host Eskymos listed seven players from whom he will select his starters at game time.

The Escanaba guards will be Rick Kutchenberg and Bob Haack, a pair of 5 foot 9 inch seniors. Opening at center will be Bernie Larson or Bob Myrvall, both juniors. Myrvall is 6-5 and Larson 6-4. The forwards will be selected from senior Paul Miller, 6-1; senior Steve Oman, 6-0, and junior Jim Boyle, 6-0.

Of the seven possible starters, all but Myrvall are lettermen who saw considerable action last season. Miller was the team's leading point producer last year with 195.

Four Tigers Receive Votes

BOSTON (UPI) — Four Detroit Tiger players received votes in the balloting for the 1965 Baseball Writers' Association of America Most Valuable Player Award in the American League.

Outfielder Willie Horton placed the highest among the Tigers given votes. Horton finished eighth with 24 points.

Zoilo Versalles, who helped lead the Minnesota Twins to the American League pennant last season, was a near unanimous choice for the MVP award with 19 of 20 first place votes and 275 points.

Versalles' teammate, batting champion Tony Oliva, was a distant second, getting the other first place vote and 174 points.

Al Kaline finished 16th in the voting with nine points, Don Wert was 11th with 22 points, and Norm Cash had one point to finish 33rd in the balloting.

The last Detroit player to win the award was Hal Newhouse in 1945. Newhouse, one of the greatest pitchers in Tiger history, also won the MVP award in 1944.

Other Detroit winners were Mickey Cochrane, 1934, Hank Greenberg, 1935 and 1940, and Charley Gehringer, 1937.

Brooks Robinson, the Baltimore Oriole third baseman who won the award in 1964, placed third in the voting this year with 150 points.

Versalles Most Valuable American League Player

BOSTON (UPI) — Zoilo Versalles, the Minnesota Twins shortstop, was named the American League's Most Valuable Player for 1965.

A committee of the Baseball Writers' Association of America made the 24-year-old infielder an overwhelming choice by giving him 19 of 20 first-place votes and a single second-place ballot.

Versalles, a go-go guy whose solid hitting, determined base running and far-ranging fielding was a key to the Twins' march, was on a ticket-selling mission at Altoona, Wis., when he learned of his runaway victory over Twin outfielder Tony Oliva in the annual voting.

"Oh my God," he told United Press International. "Excuse me, I've got to go pray."

It was just about eight months ago that Versalles riled Sam Mele, Minnesota's American League manager of the year, by his failure to go all-out

Johnson indicated that Dave Nyquist, 6 foot 5 inch junior, would probably not be used because of a knee injury suffered in football. Nyquist was hospitalized for treatment of the knee and rejoined the squad this week, but has not been able to take part in full practice drills.

Coach John Butrymowicz of the invading Crusaders will start his tallest players in an effort to match the Escanaba height. The Holy Name coach today named four juniors and one senior to starting positions. He has no returning lettermen from last season's team.

Opening at guards will be 6-1 junior Greg Brandt and 5-9 senior Jim Anderson. The center will be 6-2 junior Tom Smith. The forwards will be 6-2 Jerry Wiles and 6-1 Tom Plouff, both juniors.

The five starters represent the only 6-footers on the Crusader team, which includes only three seniors this season.

The game, starting at 8:30, will be the first Great Northern basketball conference meeting between the two schools. Jayvees will meet in a preliminary contest.

Knee Operation For Terry Barr

DETROIT (UPI) — Terry Barr, one of the Detroit Lions' all-time great receivers, underwent his third knee operation of his career Wednesday and will be out for the remainder of the season.

Barr was injured in the Lions' game at Los Angeles three weeks ago. The veteran flanker-back still leads the Lions in pass receiving with 24 catches good for 403 yards and three touchdowns.

Barr underwent his first knee surgery while starring at the University of Michigan and again in 1962 when he also was lost for the year. Wednesday's surgery removed cartilage from his right knee. His previous surgery was on his left knee.

Barr will be replaced by Pat Studstill who subbed for Barr in 1962.

Lakers Outplay Boston Celtics

By United Press International
When Darrall Imhoff out-rebounds Bill Russell, it almost figures that the Los Angeles Lakers will defeat the Boston Celtics.

That's just what happened Wednesday night when Imhoff came off the bench and teamed up with the incomparable Jerry West to guide the Western Division leading Lakers to a 125-115 victory over the world champions.

In the only other game, Cincinnati's Royals won their seventh straight game and took over first place in the East with a 131-115 defeat of the Philadelphia 76ers.

In Los Angeles a crowd of 12,774 came out in heavy rain to watch West score 46 points and Imhoff grab 21 rebounds in three quarters to off-set a hot shooting performance by Boston's John Havlicek.

The Celtics' sixth man scored 41. Imhoff grabbed 10 rebounds in the second quarter when the Lakers outscored Boston 22-1 in one five-minute rush and overtaken them for an 11-point half-time lead.

However, Havlicek's 16 points in the third quarter and early in the fourth brought the Celtics back.

West broke the game open again with five straight points after the score was tied 107-107, and Boston never caught up.

Edgar Baylor played only the first five minutes of the second half with a strained tendon in his good knee, while Willie Naulls, Larry Segfried and Ron Bonham all missed action for Boston because of injuries.

Sam Jones scored 20 for Boston, while Rudy Larusso got 21 for the Lakers.

At Cincinnati the Royals never trailed after early in the first period, as Oscar Robertson, Jerry Lucas, Adrian Smith and Connie Dierking all scored over 20 points. Robertson led with 28.

Wilt Chamberlain didn't get field goal until early in the second quarter, but led all scorers with 16 points.

after a ground ball in a pre-season exhibition game with the New York Mets.

Mele immediately pulled Versalles from the lineup and bunched off one of the funniest disputes of the season in which the fiery Cuban-born shortstop talked his way to a $300 fine.

Versalles needed Mele with the then-popular rumor that third-base coach Billy Martin would be the next Minnesota manager.

"That'll cost you $100," Mele is reported to have said to launch their dugout debate. "Make it $200," Versalles answered. "Okay, it's $200," Mele replied. "How about three," the shortstop snapped. And Mele once again agreed.

The dispute and escalating fine were summarily called off at that point but Versalles settled down to become the Twins' sorely needed leader.

Versalles batted a relatively unimpressive .273 but he led the major leagues in runs scored with 126 and paced the American League in at bats with 666 and total bases with 208 as well as tying for doubles

William Eckert Gets Job

Retired Air Force General Is Baseball Commissioner

CHICAGO (UPI) — New baseball Commissioner William D. Eckert won't be a "czar" but says he will insist on calling signals.

Eckert, 56, a retired three-star Air Force general, was chosen unanimously Wednesday by the 20 major league club owners to replace retiring Commissioner Ford C. Frick.

He made it clear immediately that he believed he had full authority to operate for the best interests of baseball and that he intended to assume that authority.

"I've never operated as a czar," he told newsmen, "but I'm going to call signals as I see them in all fairness and equity in the interests of the public, the players and the franchisees."

"I agree there is full authority for me to step in and do the job that needs to be done."

Started immediately Eckert, who took over as commissioner immediately under a seven-year contract at $65,000 per year, said he would begin immediately to learn about his new job, through conferences with Frick, American and National League Presidents Joe Cronin and Warren Giles, and other baseball figures.

"I'm going to encourage selection of Lee S. MacPhail, president and general manager of the Baltimore Orioles, as administrator in the commissioner's office, the top job under Eckert. MacPhail received a three-year contract at $40,000 per year. It was believed Harry Dalton would succeed him as Orioles general manager.

Eckert, whose only baseball background was as a high school player in Madison, Ind., said he believed baseball sought him out because of his business background and not his playing ability.

"I don't think they plan to put me on the field," he said. Eckert said he was "very pleased to be elected" but added "after 35 years in the Air Force, I'm not the type to be surprised."

He disclosed that he had more than a week to consider whether he would accept the job after he first was contacted by John Fetzer of the Detroit Tigers and John Galtbreath of the Pittsburgh Pirates, the screening committee chosen by the owners to recommend a commissioner.

He was one of the "150 or so" who was on the original list of nominees submitted by club owners and others, Fetzer said, but he was somewhat of a surprise choice since there had been no mention of his name in speculation of the probable commissioner.

Two others who had been rated among the leading candidates, MacPhail and Cronin, got other endorsements Wednesday. MacPhail, the administrator's post and Cronin a seven-year extension of his contract as American League president.

Eckert graduated from the U.S. Military Academy in 1930, 128th in a class of 241, and in 1940 he received a master's degree in business administration at Harvard. Following service as a fighter pilot, he commanded a bomb group during World War II and later became chief of maintenance and supply for the 9th Air Force Service Command.

From 1945 on, he was in the upper echelons of the Air Force, including service in the office of the under-secretary of the Air Force. When he retired in 1961, he was comptroller of the Air Force.

Since his retirement he has been on numerous industry and defense advisory boards, but planned to resign from these to devote full time to baseball.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Roger Anderson was recalled from the New York taxi squad Wednesday and the Giants made room for the defensive tackle by releasing Mike Budria, who had started every game at defensive tackle for New York.

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Tom Gola of the New York Knickerbockers accompanied the team to Baltimore today but was not expected to see action against the Bullets tonight because of a severely strained muscle in his right calf. The veteran backcourt man was injured in practice Wednesday.

PARIS (UPI) — The French Basketball Federation has selected a 13-man team for a tour of the United States. The squad will begin the tour Dec. 19 against Poland at Madison Square Garden in New York.

ST. PETERSBURG, Florida (UPI) — Righthander Jack Hamilton of the New York Mets pitched a no-hitter Wednesday to beat the Detroit Tigers 4-0 in the seven-inning opener of a Florida Winter Instructional League doubleheader.

American League batting champion Pedro Oliva made 185 hits for the Minnesota Twins last season. He led the league in most hits while batting .321.

Floyd Like Missionary

Patterson Out Of Place In Glittering Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Floyd Patterson looks as out of place as a missionary in this fun town of gaudy girlie shows and stuttering slot machines and glittering neon lights.

The 30-year-old former heavyweight champion from the asphalt jungles of Brooklyn is used to training in the mossy woodlands of Marlboro, N.Y., where he lives the quiet life of a virtual recluse for nine months out of each year.

Floyd doesn't like the town—it was here that he suffered his second straight one-round knockout at the hands of Sonny

Liston two years ago. But he has continued to train hard in distracting surroundings for what may be the last fight of his career.

Floyd's Crusade

If Patterson does look like a missionary in Las Vegas, it's not entirely out of character for he came here on a mission. You could even call it a crusade.

Floyd is obsessed with the idea that the Black Muslims own Clay—an opinion shared by many other people—and he feels if he beats Cassius he will yank the carpet from under the Negro separatist movement and "give the title back to the people."

The subject of the Muslims—and Clay's affiliation with the group—came up again Wednesday at Patterson's news conference following his final public workout.

"I'd like to straighten out my feelings about the Muslims," Patterson said, "because a lot has been written and not all of it was true. I'm not against the whole movement. I'm simply against what they believe in as far as segregation is concerned."

No Comment

"As far as their religious beliefs are concerned, I have nothing to say about that. I have my religion (Patterson is a Roman Catholic) and they have theirs. But they're not right when they teach separation of the races."

Patterson then was asked about reports that the Muslims had been conducting a "war of harassment" against him.

He digested that question for several seconds, then answered "no."

However, Floyd wasn't too convincing and his questioners — to the ex-champ's obvious relief — changed the subject.

Drew Bundini Brown, who left Clay's camp recently because he refused to join the Black Muslims, watched Patterson's final sparring session.

Asked if he thought the Muslims had "reached" Patterson, Bundini said:

"Nah, I don't think so. He looks and sounds very relaxed. No pressure on him. He's thinking positive now. If he can just get a little vicious when he gets Clay in the ring, he can make a fight out of it."

The Kansas City athletics drew 528,344 fans last season. It was the low figure in both leagues.

While Patterson's workout was typical — quiet and solemn — Clay amused observers at his drill Wednesday by imitating Floyd's "peek-a-boo" style during a sparring session with Cody Jones.

Cassius even took a couple of prat falls after Jones landed light left hooks.

"Lots of people want to see how it would look, me being on the floor, so I decided I'd let you see," Clay explained. "It's the only time you'll see me in that position, though. I promise you."

Billy Conn, the ex-heavyweight champion, walked away in disgust after watching Clay's comedy act.

"I'm betting on Patterson," said the old Pittsburgh flash. "He takes this business of fighting seriously. Clay is a clown."

Hull Hits Two As Hawks Win

By United Press International
Bobby Hull, whose National Hockey League exploits are legendary among veteran players, surprised a rookie Wednesday night and led the Chicago Black Hawks to a 5-3 victory over the New York Rangers.

Hull scored two goals and brought his season total to 14. It was his first tally that put the game out of reach for the New Yorkers and surprised rookie goalie Ed Giacomin.

Giacomin, who likes to roam far from the goal, didn't expect Hull to fire from 45 feet out at the blue line but found the puck whizzing past his waist and into the net.

Stan Mikita, who also had two goals along with two assists, helped the Black Hawks gain a share of the NHL lead. Mikita raised his point total to 17 with his performance in the only NHL game scheduled.

Ken Wharram scored the other Chicago goal while Rod Gilbert, Bob Nevin and Bob Seiling tallied for the Rangers.

The Kansas City athletics drew 528,344 fans last season. It was the low figure in both leagues.

Minnesota tried to inject punch into its running game before facing Wisconsin Saturday. The Gophers also worked on passing and defense.

Purdue Toils

Purdue toiled on pass defense in preparing for the Old Oaken Bucket struggle with Indiana.

Michigan practiced for an hour and a half against Ohio State-type defense Coach Bump Elliott said he expected the Wolverines to be at full strength for the game.

Wisconsin worked for an hour and 15 minutes on reviews of offensive and defensive patterns. Ohio State wound up its rough work for the season with a hard drill in the stadium to escape near-freezing temperatures outdoors.

Big Ten Teams In Final Drills

By United Press International
Big Ten football teams ended their final contact drills for the season with the exception of Michigan State which will have to keep at conditioning exercises for its Rose Bowl assignment on New Year's Day.

However, the Spartans still have a date in Notre Dame Stadium Saturday and Coach Duffy Daugherty said he is hoping for his crew to turn in the best game of the season on that day.

Fullback Bob Apisa was expected to be able to play despite a knee injury, and this was good news to Daugherty, who had no other injury problems.

Snow Hampers Irish

At South Bend, Ind., Notre Dame's football practice was hampered by snow flurries. But Coach Ara Parseghian appeared as happy about the future as Daugherty as he watched star halfback Bill Wolski run with the regular. Wolski missed the North Carolina game because of an injured knee.

Indiana had its first and only contact drill of the week Wednesday as Coach John Pont prepared his charges for Purdue.

Northwestern worked to bolster its defenses against the likes of Illinois end John Wright and fullback Jim Grabowski.

LaFave Named Tax Director

Patrick C. LaFave was hired as director of the Schoolcraft tax writing department at the board of supervisors meeting Tuesday night.

He will succeed Henry V. Trippie, who is resigning to accept a position in Lower Michigan. Salary for LaFave is set at $6,000.

A report of the tax writing and equalization department was presented by Trippie, who noted the department is five years old. In the time it has existed concentration was on appraisals and completing equalization and levy processes. The past year has been largely occupied with changes required by new legislation.

Trippie predicted the 1966 and 1967 assessment rolls will show slight increases and by 1968 the total county valuation will exceed $27 million, and continue rising each year.

MANISTIQUE Merged Health Unit Gets OK

A resolution authorizing the Alger-Schoolcraft Health Department to form an associated health district with Luce and Mackinac counties was approved by the Schoolcraft Board of Supervisors Tuesday night.

Alger, Luce, and Mackinac counties have already taken action necessary for creation of the association it was reported. A chief goal of the associated districts will be sharing of a health director. A meeting is scheduled at Newberry Nov. 21 to consider a candidate. The Alger-Schoolcraft district has been without a permanent director since the death of Dr. R. A. Teaman.

Also adopted by the board was a resolution requesting the Road Commission to contract for plowing private drives in rural areas under new state law.

Veteran burial allowances were approved for Florence McVeen and Alfred Swanson.

Townships Plan Meeting Nov. 22

The eastern 11th Congressional group of the Michigan Townships Assn. will meet in Manistique Monday, Nov. 22 in the courthouse. Joseph A. Parisi, state executive director will be among those present.

From 125 to 150 persons are expected from Alger, Chippewa, Delta, Luce, Mackinac, Menominee and Schoolcraft counties.

Clerks will meet with representatives of the Secretary of State on election law changes, and supervisors and treasurers with auditor general representatives on veteran and senior citizen exemptions and plat acts.

County home rule and proposals for county reapportionment are expected to be lively discussion topics.

School Tries Taped Lecture

A taped lecture in biology was used in Manistique High School with success Tuesday while the instructor, Glenn Bignall was in Lansing with the football team, and has probably opened the way for other uses of this procedure, especially for German and other classes where a substitute teacher is difficult to obtain.

Principal Marvin Frederickson said he and Mr. Bignall had discussed the possibility of taping a lecture for a time when he was away or ill, with only minor class supervision necessary. Any number of subjects could be covered in this type of lecture, enhancing any class, even though it did not coincide directly with the material being taught.

The 35-minute tape on exobiology took considerable time and preparation, including re-taping for speed.

"The day went by without a hitch," the principal said.

A testing follow-up will be made for an evaluation by students and the instructor.

"This is important experimentation by the staff. We hope to provide an atmosphere in which students and teachers feel free to try new ideas, for new and better ways to knowledge," Frederickson said.

Slide Cuts Off AMC Dividends

DETROIT (UPI) — American Motors Corp. announced a sharp profit slide Wednesday and said it would not pay a dividend this quarter.

The firm reported net earnings of $5,205,572, or 27 cents per share, for the fiscal year which ended last Sept. 30, down from $26,226,735, or $1.38 per share, in the 1964 fiscal year.

The report contrasted sharply with that of AMC's "big brothers" in the auto industry, General Motors Corp., Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp., all reported record profits for the first nine months of this year.

AMC's sales for the fiscal year were $990,618,709, down from $1,095,361,581 in fiscal 1964.

Richard E. Cross, chairman, and Roy Abernethy, president, said strikes and lower sales blotted the AMC profit picture.

"Domestic sales of American Motors automobiles were lower than expectations for the 1965 fiscal year, with the decline almost entirely in the lowest-priced categories, which also declined for the industry as a whole," Cross and Abernethy said in a statement.

"A three-week strike by the United Auto Workers at Kenosha, Wis., shut down all our Wisconsin plants at the start of the 1966 model launching program. In addition, a strike at the Brampton, Ont., plant, halted all Canadian production for nearly six weeks."

Chrysler Plant Now Operating In Kokomo, Ind.

KOKOMO, Ind. (UPI) — The third major Chrysler Corp. plant to be completed in the U.S. this year is in full production here.

The new Kokomo Casting plant, one of the world's largest aluminum die casting plants, was completed a short time after the company's new Sterling Stamping Plant near Detroit and the Belvidere, Ill., Assembly Plant.

Alan G. Loofbourrow, vice president and group executive, Power Train, said the new plant which has the capacity to melt more than 100 million pounds of aluminum annually, has produced about nine million cast aluminum parts since pilot production started earlier this year.

"This new plant will be able to produce approximately 50 percent more than the former Kokomo Casting Plant which it replaces," Loofbourrow said.

"The new plant also was designed to readily meet future expansion requirements and to provide improved employee working conditions."

Work on the Casting Plant, which has nearly 350,000 square feet of floor space, was started 18 months ago.

One Day Late

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — The Iowa Supreme Court Tuesday granted a petition of Larry Ford seeking release from Iowa Men's Reformatory. But the order was a day too late, because Ford took matters into his own hands and escaped from a prison detail Sunday.

Sale Of Surplus Aluminum Set Up In Washington

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The federal government and major aluminum producers have reached a compromise agreement on selling the government's surplus of the metal at a rate of 100,000 to 200,000 tons a year.

The government was preparing to unload upwards of 300,000 tons on the U.S. market when the aluminum producers withdrew their price increase last Wednesday night.

The new agreement, announced Tuesday, provides that not less than 150,000 tons of government aluminum will be purchased by the producers in 1966.
